History's Greatest Clash Of Jets
Sees Russian-Made Craft Defeated

TOKYO (UP)—U.S. Superfortresses and jet fighters destroyed or damaged a record 22 Communist planes today in beating off the greatest enemy air challenge yet to American air superiority over Korea.

Some 210 to 220 aircraft tangled in the cloud-flecked skies over northwest Korea in two major battles, one of them the greatest jet combat in history.

The Reds threw 95 Russian-built MIG-15 jets against 114 to 124 U.S. bombers and jet fighters in the two battles. They ended with five MIGs shot down, two probably destroyed and 15 damaged.

U.N. Men Hack Way Deep Into Red Defences

Heaviest Artillery
Barrage Of War Used

TOKYO (UP)—United Nations troops cut their way into the main Chinese Communist defence line in western Korea today with bayonets, flame-throwers and the heaviest artillery barrage of the war.

Heaviest fighting was on the west central front northeast of Seoul, where an American division is smashing into the enemy build-up area in the Chorwon triangle.

The Yanks met the heaviest resistance they have encountered in a month, indicating they have reached the enemy's main defence line north of the 38th Parallel.

The Reds fought from heavy bunkers. They had to be dug out with bayonets and the Yanks also brought up flame-throwers. American big guns hammered the Red entrenchments without let-up for 24 hours.

The Reds threw three counter-attacks against the dug-in American during the night. On the third charge they forced one group of Yanks to withdraw from a hill.

PEACE HOPES ALL BUT FADE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Responsible administration officials have virtually abandoned hope of any negotiated settlement in the Korean fighting prior to the impending big Communist offensive.

In his speech broadcast Wednesday, President Truman held out a three-point, no-appeasement peace offer to the Chinese, but gave no hint he thought Peiping would accept.

HOCKEY FAN ABED

Young Harold Kirkham Strong Cougar Booster

One of the keenest Victoria Cougar boosters is a young fellow who doesn't get to any of the games, but who knows all about the team and its individual performers.

Fourteen-year-old Harold Kirkham is more than just a fan. When it comes to hockey... particularly the Cougar brand of hockey... he's a statistician, strategist and counselor.

And while he's quite confident his team will win the P.C.H.L. playoffs, he's cagey like a veteran about making any out-of-the-limb predictions.

"The Cougars will win," he confided today. "Maybe tomorrow; maybe not. They've still got three games to take it in."

Harold's hockey world revolves around his bed in Jubilee Hospital ward. He's been in hospital two months.

As for the Cougars, they are appreciative of Harold's support and recently sent him a hockey stick bearing all their autographs. In addition, the high-scoring forward Eddie Mazur and Jack McIntyre made a personal visit to deliver a much-prized puck.

Harold, a grade nine pupil from S. J. Willis Junior High, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kirkham, 817 Vale.

Two battle-damaged B-29s landed at allied-held Korean airfields, but no other damage was reported to the U.S. aircraft.

The Communist challenge tended to confirm recent intelligence reports that the Reds were massing aircraft in Manchuria for an all-out air offensive.

In the day's first battle, 80 enemy jets—the biggest single Communist air armada yet encountered over Korea—ripped into 30 to 40 B-29 Superfortresses and 72 escorting Sabrejets and Thunderjets over Sinuiju, just south of the Manchurian border.

The MIGs not only failed to prevent the B-29s from bombing the Yalu River frontier bridge at Sinuiju, but lost three planes shot down, two probably destroyed and 14 damaged in the battle.

The B-29s accounted for one of the enemy planes destroyed and one damaged, and the first fell to guns of the escorting fighters.

Never before in history had so many jet fighters been engaged in a single battle.

The B-29s rode through intense flak and swarm of Communist jets to drop 300 tons of bombs squarely on the Sinuiju bridge.

It was their heaviest attack of the war on a bridge and crewmen reported direct hits on the span, one of the main points of entry for Communist reinforcements and supplies from Manchuria.

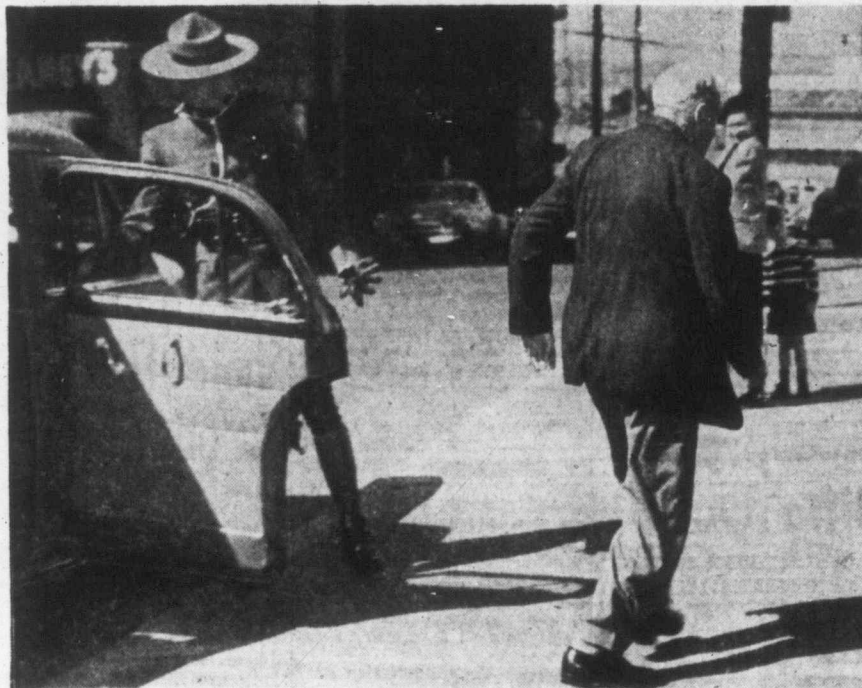

Not long afterward 12 F-86 Thunderjets tangled with 15 MIG jets southeast of Sinuiju and destroyed two and damaged another. The battle swirled from 34,000 feet down to 4,000.

"This is the biggest day for the 5th Air Force since Dec. 21, when Sabrejets claimed six MIGs destroyed and another six damaged," a 5th Air Force announcement said.

'Mystery Invaders' Indo-China Bandits

PARIS (AP)—A French government official said today that the mystery battalion which invaded Northwest Indo-China in Chinese Communist uniforms was made up of "bandits of no political significance."

He said the troops, numbering about 500, could have been deserters from the Red Chinese ranks.

Sentenced To Three Years In Defrauding Case

Detail Of Police Costs Urged By Commissioner

Calling in of an efficiency expert to determine exactly what the city pays per policeman, what it costs to keep a man in jail, the overall cost of the jail and what portion should be charged to outside municipalities, was urged at a special police commission meeting today by Commissioner Brent Murdoch.

He recommended a cost accounting system and said the answer to reduced police costs was a metropolitan force.

"The reason our taxes are so high is we are offering a lot of services to outside municipalities and not getting paid for it," Mr. Murdoch said with special reference to the jail.

"We pay $360,000 into a fund for the police department," he said. "I would like to know how we spend the money."

MAYOR TAKES EXCEPTION

Mayor Percy George, chairman took immediate exception; "My glory! What does that look like in print... out of that $360,000 some $200,000 goes for salaries."

"ALL IN BUDGET"

"It's all in the budget and don't say you don't know what one cent is being paid for."

Mr. Murdoch replied he did not mean it in that way but continued to press for a cost-accounting system. He said he wanted to know exactly what it cost the city per policeman before having to decide on any wage increase.

Owing to changes in the department he felt things had been disorganized for the past five years. The mayor stated the city was at the present time trying to institute cost accounting into its controller's department, but felt things could not be done overnight.

Israel Patrol Clashes With Jordan Tribes

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Israel, already involved in frontier disputes with Syria, today reported a fresh border incident—this time involving the Jordan—resulting in the death of one Israeli soldier and the wounding of three others.

An official spokesman said here the clash occurred Wednesday night near the Jordan lines at Beith Jibrin, southwest of Jerusalem, when hundreds of Arab shepherds, with their flocks, were said to have infiltrated into Israeli territory.

Both sides had casualties in an exchange of fire after the shepherds had resisted attempts to drive them off, the spokesman said.

Arab casualties were not known but were believed to be higher than the Israeli losses.

The Israeli soldiers finally succeeded in driving the Arabs back across the frontier.

Observers believed that, unlike the prolonged Israeli-Syrian dispute, the clash with Jordan is likely to be settled quickly and amicably.

U.S. Customs Grab Canadian Goods Bound For Poland

BOSTON (AP)—A 147-bale shipment of wool rags and clippings from Canada destined for Communist Poland was seized yesterday by United States customs officials.

Customs officials, acting on orders from Washington, said it was consigned in violation of the Export Control Act.

The action followed discovery that although the cloth was booked from a Canadian point to Boston the real destination was Gdynia, Poland.

Officials said that as a result of negotiations between the two governments, no more freight that might reach a Communist country will move out of Canada to any United States port.

Officials said the shipment originated at Montreal, but they would not identify the shipper.

In Ottawa, a Trade Department official said the wool seizure by U.S. customs officials is the "best thing that could have happened."

HOOTS MON! GUID NEWS ABOUT SCOTCH

Your bottle of Scotch or rye is not likely to cost you any more. At least, not yet.

W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the Liquor Control Board said today, he did not think there would be any immediate steps taken to pass on the extra two per cent federal sales tax to the consumer in the liquor stores.

He said he was pleasantly surprised that Mr. Abbott had not been harder on liquor. "Of course, it was our turn to catch the increase last September," he said.

Ridgway Flies To Visit MacArthur

TOKYO (AP)—Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Gen. MacArthur's successor, arrived by plane from Korea today and went immediately into conference with MacArthur at his residence in the United States Embassy.

Ridgway and Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., who arrived with him, were driven into a side gate at the Embassy.

MacArthur was not on hand when the plane bearing Ridgway and Pace landed at Haneda airport at 4:10 p.m. (2:10 a.m. E.S.T.).

Motorists Must Observe Sirens

By ROY THORSEN
Municipal and police officials joined today in commendation of the Victoria Times' first-hand story of the manner in which some of the motoring public ignore siren-sounding emergency vehicles on speed runs to the hospital with injured persons.

"That's the kind of publicity needed to bring home to the public the need for improvement on the part of drivers on hearing sirens shrilling," one R.C.M.P. highway patrol officer said.

The public must realize we have by-laws which make it mandatory on their part to give

Seven-Year Term To Gillies For Fraud

Confesses Enormity Of Crime

Sentences of seven years and five years in the penitentiary to run concurrently were meted out by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Assize Court today to Clyde Gillies, 42-year-old Victoria salesman who pleaded guilty to charges of theft and fraud.

Percy Walls, 65-year-old former lawyer, convicted by an Assize jury Wednesday of defrauding A. Scott of Victoria of $9,000, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary to run concurrently with his present prison term which he is serving for breach of trust. He was convicted on the latter charge two years ago.

Gillies, who was asked by His Lordship if he had anything to say before sentence was passed upon him, said he was "deeply aware of the enormity of my offence."

"In view of what I have done I cannot ask God or this court to show me any mercy," he said.

Gillies then asked the court to show mercy to his former business partner, Walls. The two men worked hand in hand in defrauding Scott of his money.

Walls, who stood in the prisoner's box beside Gillies, reiterated that he did not think he was morally guilty of the charge.

"I think you are," replied His Lordship. "You are a mature man and a lawyer and you must have known what you were doing."

His Lordship said, however, that he believed Gillies to be the principal offender.

The sentencing of the two brought to an end one of the biggest swindling cases heard in Victoria for years. Gillies admitted in court of defrauding many people of money totalling over $150,000.

The two men who were escorted to Assize Court by R.C.M.P. ran into the courthouse when they saw a Victoria Times photographer aiming a camera at them.

Gillies won the race. He pushed Walls aside and made a dash for the open front door. Walls staggered in after him.

MACARTHUR HAD PLANNED TO QUIT REPORT CLAIMS

CHICAGO (AP)—Irv Kupcinet, Chicago Sun-Times columnist, said today "Veteran Pentagon observers, unnamed, believe Gen. MacArthur was about to resign when President Truman removed him."

Kupcinet said in his column Washington newspaper men "had been alerted for a possible statement of far-reaching importance from Tokyo" prior to President Truman's announcement that MacArthur was fired.

"Washington is buzzing with reports that President Truman beat Gen. MacArthur to the punch with his midnight firing of the hero-general," Kupcinet said.

The Washington bureau of the Associated Press reported it was unable to establish any facts bearing out the columnist's report.

MacArthur Clears Desk; Ready To Return To U.S.

Willing To Appear Before Congress If Bid;
Ridgway's Successor In Field Command Named

By RUSSELL BRINES
TOKYO (AP)—Gen. MacArthur made plans today for a return soon to the United States—ready, if invited, to air before Congress the views that got him fired by President Truman.

The five-star general kept his public silence, but his right-hand man gave the first inkling of how staunch MacArthur's defence will be.

Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney, MacArthur's closest adviser, issued a statement saying his deposed chief felt he had violated no Truman directives.

Whitney himself asked release from the army so he could leave Japan with MacArthur.

MacArthur visited his office in the downtown Dai Ichi building for one hour tonight. One of his honor guard said the general went to clean out his desk.

A large crowd of Japanese and Americans watched outside as MacArthur, smoking a pipe, strode from the building and entered his car.

Field command of the U.S. 8th Army has been given temporarily to Lt. Gen. Frank W. Milburn, Milburn will serve until the arrival in Korea of Ridgway's successor, Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, veteran of two world wars and head of the American mission that advised the Greek Government forces in their triumph over Communist insurrection.

Whitney's statement defended MacArthur followed by only a few hours' Truman's broadcast address from Washington in which the President said he fired MacArthur because he felt the general's policies carried a "very grave risk" of starting a third world war.

The Whitney statement did not deal with MacArthur's policy views, but emphasized the general's views that nothing he had said had overstepped his limitations.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

PRISON AND LONGEVITY

WITH QUITE a lot of attention being paid in the Legislature during the recent consideration of the departmental estimates of the Attorney-General to provincial gaols and their alleged deficiencies in the way of accommodation and recreational facilities, I read with interest, diluted with amusement, something that was said recently by an undisputed authority on prisons.

He is Warden Wilfred L. Denno of Sing Sing, the big penitentiary at Ossining, New York, and he came out with the startling observation that people live longer in prison than they do out of it. Not only does this confound all the preconceived notions of what prisons do to those who get into them, but it makes me wonder whether those of us who stay out may not be missing something.

REGULAR HOURS

CONVICTS IN THE great American penitentiary work five and a half days a week in the prison shops. From Saturday noon until Monday morning they may play games, read, watch the movies or do almost anything but leave—which, of course, is the one thing most of them would prefer to do! In the summer they get about four hours' recreation a day, and in the winter about three. And the prison death rate—of natural causes—among the 1,800 tenants averages about three a year. Last year it was two. The mortality rate from unnatural causes is something else—three were electrocuted in 1949 and 11 last year.

ROUTINE HEALTHFUL?

IN SUPPORT of the warden's claim that the life span of the average man in gaol is longer than it is for the average person on the outside, he pointed out that the regular habits have something to do with it. Prisoners eat, sleep and work the same time every day—by which I suppose he means those who have become accustomed to the routine. For I cannot conceive of anyone able to eat and sleep either well or regularly when they first get into gaol!

Other factors entered into the picture, too, according to the warden. The prison inmate had no opportunities for indulging in dissipation. While the average person thought about going to a doctor because of a cold or other ailment, prisoners presented themselves to the gaol physician immediately a symptom presented itself.

TO RELIEVE MONOTONY

WHILE I AM wondering if their trips to the doctor were not as much to relieve the monotony of prison existence, as to relieve their maladies, the fact remains that such care would not doubt prolong their lives. Furthermore, the Sing Sing warden declares that the regular hours and regular, whole, some diet has resulted in improved health for many a man who came into gaol in poor physical condition.

That may be. And we have to take the warden's word for it, as there doesn't seem to be anything forthcoming from the Sing Sing inmates, either by way of support or denial.

NO GREAT RUSH

BUT I CANNOT imagine that his rosy picture of what prison can do for you in the way of promoting health and prolonging life will cause any great rush of customers for this latest prescription for longevity.

While there may still be some people who agree with the poet that "stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage," an ordinary person like myself would rather take a chance on a shorter life of freedom outside than a longer life sentence inside the very palpable walls and bars of a penitentiary.

LENGTHY ILLNESS

WHILE ON the subject of longevity, I am reminded of a little item I read of the recent death in Vienna of Franz Feichinger, who was never accepted for military service because he was "physically unfit." Yet he lived to become Austria's oldest man, dying at the age of 106.

He was thus an outstanding example of the truth of the old proverb about "creaking gates hang the longest," or as I have heard it expressed, "the surest way to live to a ripe this should be now modernized to 'the surest way to live to a ripe old age is to contract a fatal disease in your youth.' Perhaps a ripe old age is to be sentenced to a long term in prison?"

Nfld. House In Uproar In Name-Calling Duel

By CANADIAN PRESS

The Newfoundland Legislature resounded Wednesday to bitter name calling when Premier Smallwood and opposition leader John G. Higgins tangled in the Throne debate.

Mr. Higgins threw the chamber into an uproar with a statement that the Liberals had used the recent government-sponsored convention of fishermen as an opportunity "to make political hay while the sun shines."

Premier Smallwood shot back: "That is a lie, which makes the honorable gentleman a liar. I hurl the statement back in his face. He is a cold, calculating liar—anything for politics."

Other members joined in. Finally Speaker Reginald Sparkes called for order and quelled the disturbance. He asked Mr. Higgins to explain his charges or withdraw them.

Mr. Higgins said he would retract them under order from the chair. Premier Smallwood then said he would withdraw his own statement "unreservedly."

Says Combines Act Could Rule Prices

Liberal M.P. To Support Tory Move; Urges Meat Export To U.S. Halted

OTTAWA (CP)—The government was urged Wednesday in the Commons to use anti-combine laws to bring down the cost of living.

The proposal came from John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre) as the chamber moved into its third day of debate on a Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion calling for the immediate imposition of price controls.

Mr. Diefenbaker asserted it was more than coincidence that manufacturers were arbitrarily raising their prices at the same time and to the same extent in various parts of the country. The Combines Act could be broken with "almost complete immunity."

The debate saw a lone Liberal member—Wilfrid Lacroix (Quebec-Montmorency)—declare that he will vote for the Progressive Conservative motion. He agreed with Mr. Diefenbaker's statement that there is too wide a margin between farm and retail prices on foods.

The Quebecer also urged that meat exports to the United States be stopped as a way to reduce food prices.

Earlier, Justice Minister Garson promised to see what could be done to ensure that the tax decrease on candy, announced in Tuesday night's budget, is passed to the consumer.

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre) said the C.C.F. party does not want a price freeze. It was seeking parity between costs and prices for all Canadians by regulation. He deplored attempts to set the farmer off against the city worker.

Jean Francois Pouliot (L., Temiscouata) said the opposition was seeking controls at a time when prices never were higher. This would only mean that subsidies—and money—would have to be used to bring prices down.

Clarie Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) said there already was "irresponsible" price fixing by big corporations and other groups which created artificial shortages and then raised prices. J. A. Ross (P.C., Souris) agreed that something should be done about the spread between prices paid to the farmer for foodstuffs and those paid at retail.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It was just a little fire—in a typewriter.

But the alarm summoned four engine companies; two ladder trucks, two battalion chiefs and a deputy chief engineer.

A man accidentally dropped a cigaret lighter into a typewriter. He yelled "fire." The shout was heard in another room, and the alarm turned in without further investigation.

It happened at the naval hospital, thus the big fire squad.

A large hunting knife was produced in Assize Court today as an exhibit at the trial of Anton Konkin, 715 Wilson, charged with the attempted murder of John Novak, 2578 Cook, seriously wounded Oct. 10 after a quarrel with Konkin.

The trial opened Wednesday before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane with Crown prosecutor Gordon Cameron describing the events preceding the stabbing. Both men suffered serious knife wounds, he said.

Evidence was given by Dr. J. B. Anderson and Dr. Leonard Bapty, who attended both men at the Jubilee Hospital, that Novak sustained a wound which penetrated his right lung. Konkin suffered three stab wounds in the abdomen.

The case is continuing.

Fired M'Arthur To Avert War--Truman

Crushing Of Red Offensive Will Justify Action, President Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman has pinned high hopes for peace—and vindication for firing Gen. MacArthur—on the crushing of a threatened Communist spring offensive in Korea.

Truman said in a radio and television talk Wednesday night that he relieved MacArthur of his Pacific commands because the general disagreed with his policy aimed at preventing the Korean fighting from spreading into a world war. Less than 22 hours had elapsed since the announcement of MacArthur's dismissal.

"We do not want to see the conflict in Korea extended," the President said. "We are trying to prevent a world war—not to start one."

Truman said that the bombing of Communist bases in Manchuria and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa—both advocated by MacArthur—would involve "a grave risk of starting a general war."

Then he made it clear that he believes that if a threatened mass offensive by the Communists in Korea is crushed, the Reds may decide that further aggression there or elsewhere is "folly." Then the door would be open to a peaceful settlement "which will not compromise the principle and purposes of the United Nations."

"Defeat of aggression in Korea may be the turning point in the world's search for a practical way of achieving peace and security," the President predicted.

CREATES 2 CAMPS

Any such outcome, of course, would be pointed to by the President's friends as justifying his drastic action in removing MacArthur, a move that has split the United States into two camps.

The controversy over the MacArthur removal exploded across the United States and reverberated in the world's capitals.

Several State Legislatures received resolutions criticizing the President for his action. Some asked for impeachment, a move that Republicans in Congress talked about and abandoned immediately as impractical.

At home the weight of editorial comment seemed to be that Truman had no other choice but to remove MacArthur. Some of the papers which said this, however, vigorously attacked the President's Far Eastern policies.

DEMOCRATS RALLY

Truman's outline of his policy of containment brought sharp counter-attacks from Republicans in Congress. Democrats, who had been somewhat reluctant to join in the controversy earlier, rallied to the President's support.

Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, said bitterly that "apparently the President is willing to gamble with the lives of our boys in Korea in the hope that the Russian-directed Communists will see the folly of their ways."

MacArthur has expressed his willingness to appear before Congress, but Democrats moved to block any joint session. Senator Robert S. Kerr (Dem.-Okla.), said MacArthur's appearance should be confined to testimony before a committee, where he would be subject to questioning.

Truman departed from his prepared text of last night's speech to praise Ridgway. He said Ridgway, as commander of the 8th Army in Korea, demonstrated he has "the qualities of leadership needed" for his multiple tasks.

The President said there are signs that the Communists are building up for a new mass attack in Korea, but he expressed confidence that it will be turned back.

The United Nations forces, he said, "are fighting for a just cause. . . . We pray that their efforts may succeed. For upon their success may hinge the peace of the world."

"Real peace" could be achieved on three basic conditions:

1. "The fighting must stop."
2. "Concrete steps must be taken to insure that the fighting will not break out again."
3. "There must be an end to aggression."

Bulk Of Press In Britain On Truman's Side

LONDON (Reuters)—Two morning papers—the Daily Express and Daily Mail—stood out today among almost all European papers as the only defenders of Gen. MacArthur, ousted by President Truman.

The Daily Mail said MacArthur had fallen victim of "political ineptitude" at the White House.

The Daily Express said the only people who will be pleased about MacArthur's dismissal are in the Kremlin.

The News Chronicle (Liberal) said: "Truman has asserted the supremacy of the civil over the military power in a free democracy."

The Daily Mirror said, "There will be widespread relief that this stubborn and dangerous man is no longer in charge of the forces of the United Nations."

The Daily Telegraph wrote that the main grounds for MacArthur's removal "can hardly be argued."

The Times said that Truman, "Once again the quiet-mannered man from Missouri . . . has cut his way through a grave crisis by a decisive act of political courage."

REDS NON-COMMITTAL

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda and other Russian newspapers today printed the news of Gen. MacArthur's dismissal briefly and without comment.

The Communist party organ ran the story on a back page under the headline: "Removal of MacArthur from position as supreme commander-in-chief in Far East."

The article itself totalled 31 words. It appeared underneath a North Korean communique and an article about U.S. bombing of Pyongyang.

COMMENT ON MACARTHUR AFFAIR FROM ALL OVER

From AP Dispatches

Firing of Gen. MacArthur today brought the following comment:

TOKYO—North Korean radio: "Out goes the man who led the American imperialistic invaders to Korea and incurred the wrath and hatred of all Koreans."

BALTIMORE—Dr. Daniel A. Poling, Christian Herald president and editor: It was "Communism's greatest triumph since Lenin overthrew Kerensky."

CHARLESTON, Md.—Mrs. A. W. Hawkins (in wire to President Truman)—"Only a witling would have fired our great general and patron . . ." (Western Union had refused the original message with "moran" instead of "witting.")

And the following offers and invitations were made Gen. MacArthur.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—$10,000 and expenses for his first public appearance in U.S. or $50,000 for (your) first five appearances and addresses.

MANILA—To visit President Quirino of Philippines.

PHILADELPHIA—To act as marshal of "Loyalty Day" parade.

Police-Guarded 'Stone' On Way Back To London

Irate Scots Nationalists Busy Organizing Protest Meetings As Relic Being Crated

GLASGOW (Reuters)—Police threw a cordon round their headquarters today to guard the Stone of Scone, crowning seat of British Kings which was restored dramatically Wednesday after being missing for three months.

Workmen crated it for return to London, where Scots Nationalists seized it Christmas Day in Westminster Abbey.

Scotsmen meanwhile organized big public protest meetings. Detectives from London and a Westminster Abbey official identified the block of sandstone now under guard as the genuine coronation stone.

Three mystery men in a car delivered it Wednesday to the ruined 12th-century Abbey of Arbroath, on the Scottish east coast. Police took it to the nearby town of Forfar, then whisked it away by night to Glasgow.

Thirty Scots Nationalists, led by Miss Wendy Wood, firebrand patriot, went to Forfar to demand custody of the stone, but arrived too late. Headed by Miss Wood in tartan skirt, cloak and Tam O'Shanter bonnet, they marched round the local police station until they were told the stone had already arrived in Glasgow.

The Glasgow streets were free of any demonstrators when a truck containing the stone and escorted by a police car flashed through the gates of Glasgow central police station.

Chief Superintendent Gilbert McIlwrick, chief of Glasgow's Criminal Investigation Department, told reporters: "The stone will be kept in safe custody—we hope."

The 336-pound slab, which has caused a storm of controversy throughout Britain, will be taken to London tonight by a secret route.

It will be returned to Westminster Abbey despite letters delivered with the stone Wednesday asking the King to let it stay in Scotland.

The Scottish National Congress denounced its return as a great mistake and planned a great public protest meeting for Sunday.

The stone, historic crowning seat of Scottish kings, was seized after battle by England's King Edward I in 1296.

House Leaders In U.S. Trying New Draft Act

WASHINGTON (UP)—House leaders hoped today to stop members talking about Gen. Douglas MacArthur long enough to start voting on a watered-down draft and universal military training bill.

Republicans, however, may delay the final vote by reoffering an amendment to bar shipment of troops to Europe without congressional approval. The House beat the restriction Wednesday 192 to 168.

Other controversies also could turn up, including amendments to keep the draft alive but drop U.M.T. to do away with segregation and to limit the armed services to 3,500,000 or 4,000,000 men.

Elsewhere in Congress: Senate R.F.C. investigators agreed informally to look into a fat stack of letters from congressmen to the Reconstruction Finance Corp. They were spurred on by Sen. Charles W. Tobey, R., N.H., who disclosed he recorded two telephone conversations with President Truman and the R.F.C. investigation.

The President And The General

MR. TRUMAN HAS DONE MANY bold things—the dropping of the first atomic bomb, the Truman Doctrine, the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic Treaty, the defence of Korea. But none of these acts required the political courage which the President has shown in dismissing General MacArthur. Mr. Truman has thereby invited and probably expects an outburst of public anger such as no President has felt since the attempted impeachment of Andrew Johnson.

Clearly Mr. Truman feels that, regardless of political consequences, he had no alternative. For months General MacArthur has publicly repudiated and attempted to alter the foreign policy of his nation. He has denied by his public statements the whole basis of the Constitution, which places the civil above the military power. Thereby he has not merely embarrassed the Government and divided the nation in fierce debate, but he has more and more divided the United States from its allies. He has not only refused to act as an obedient and willing servant of the American Commander-in-Chief but as the commander of a United Nations force, subject to the will of all the allies participating in the Korean war.

The resulting strains between the United States and such allies as Britain, France and Canada have proved intolerable and threatened to disrupt the alliance. From the beginning it was obvious—General MacArthur deliberately made it so—that he favored total war in Asia at the risk of total war throughout the world, whereas the United States Government, and all the allied governments were determined to confine the war to Korea, because they were not ready to face a larger conflagration.

Had General MacArthur made his own views public and then proceeded to obey the orders of the United Nations without further question no great harm might have resulted. When he seeks, in a series of needling statements, to discredit the policy of the United Nations, to arouse the American people against their Government and to destroy the confidence of that Government's allies he asks, as must know that he asks, for his dismissal.

While it will plunge the United States into a period of bitter controversy, the General's departure will greatly relieve the allied governments which, in recent days, have hardly hidden their dissatisfaction. Though General MacArthur's high military talents are lost to the allies, their alliance will be greatly strengthened.

The danger of this episode is that it may shake the unity of the United States. Certainly it will be exploited by the Republican Party to this end. Mr. Truman has presented his enemies with a martyr to be used in the next elections. Incidentally he has doubtless eliminated any chance of his own re-election and probably has no intention of running again.

The debate now beginning is one of those disruptive interludes which democracy must endure, and gratifying only to our enemies. Whatever comes out of it in American politics, history will probably say that Mr. Truman did the only thing he could do.

Britain's New Burden

LIKE CANADA, BRITAIN IS ATTEMPTING in its new budget to superimpose the gigantic costs of defence upon the existing civilian costs of government which are not being significantly reduced. Socialism refuses to surrender any of its social experiments, regardless of cost. It is pretty clear, however, that if there is to be no retreat there is to be no farther advance at the moment. Even a socialist government cannot begin to afford an armament program and increased social expenditures.

The net result of all this is the deeper impoverishment of the British people. Their poverty, of course, does not result from the policies of the Government. It is inherent in the exhaustion of Britain's resources in two world wars. Whether that poverty would be worse or better under a different government is another matter. The fact which the British citizen must face today is that his standard of living will be sharply reduced as more of his energies go into weapons and as the price of goods rises despite all Gov.

Right-Of-Way For Ambulances

IN THIS NEWSPAPER YESTERDAY appeared the account of a Times reporter's participation in an ambulance run from Saanich to the Jubilee Hospital. The patient in the vehicle was a young man whose leg had been so severely injured that amputation was considered.

During that emergency trip, the reporter's most vivid impression was created by the thoughtlessness of car and truck drivers who refused to give the ambulance the right of way. According to law, other vehicles on the road are required to pull to the side and stop when a siren-heralded car requires a clear run. Yesterday a number of motorists appeared to ignore that convention entirely. It is safe to assume that such heedlessness showed no lack of sympathy for the man on the way to the hospital. Presumably the drivers merely failed to recognize the implications of the wailing siren.

The negligent attitude is not justified under any circumstances. Prosecutions could be instituted, but it would be a sad day for Greater Victoria if no other course were open to the authorities. Giving the right of way to an ambulance should be the automatic reaction of other drivers, not through fear of penalty if they do not, but to speed a patient to ward the hospital because they observe both the letter and the spirit of the law.

Don't Delay On Cancer

OFFICIALS IN CHARGE OF Greater Victoria's campaign to raise funds to fight cancer are still waiting for the drive to gather momentum in this region. Our quota is a modest $15,000, a sum which will doubtless be realized during the current month's collections. It had been the justifiable hope of those organizing the campaign that the total would be reached quickly, that Greater Victoria would live up to its reputation not only of providing funds for worthy causes, but of furnishing them without delay.

The invitation to contribute to this great fight against a killing disease applies to everyone in our community. Cancer is no respecter of persons.

Money is required urgently for educational work and research. Prompt response to the appeal will provide a measure of payment for those of our citizens who are giving their time and energies to this field of public service. Watchwords in the fight against cancer are "Don't delay." They apply with equal strength to support of the campaign.

A Loss To Psychiatry

THE IMPORTANCE OF PSYCHIATRY in meeting some of the problems that confront our generation lends stature to leaders in that curative field. The work of many pioneers has given the public an appreciation of the assistance the science provides for those in mental ill-health.

Because of his contributions to psychiatry, the death recently of Dr. William L. Russell in Santa Barbara creates a deep sense of loss among those acquainted with the accomplishments of this eminent Canadian who rose to be president of the American Psychiatric Association. It is a sentiment shared by all who knew Dr. Russell on his frequent visits to his brother and sister here.

Verdict On The P.M.

MACLEAN'S Magazine has no affiliation with any political party and takes a neutral view of all Canadian politicians. Its opinion of Prime Minister St. Laurent, therefore, is particularly striking.

"St. Laurent is the man supremely qualified to lead Canada in a time of crisis. No one else in any party could equal him. St. Laurent is a conscientious patriot, very sensitive to the call of duty. If it can be argued (as it will be argued) that he owes it to his country to remain on the job, he will probably stay."

A large majority of Canadians doubtless will agree with that verdict, will hope that his health will permit the Prime Minister to stay in politics beyond the next election. No successor of comparable stature has appeared in any party.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

DURING a period of enforced idleness I have been doing some odd jobs in the garden. That is to say, I have been working twice as hard as I work when doing my own job. I have been relaxing by breaking my back and legs and arches. I have also been breaking both the law and the silence of the garden by uttering loud oaths from time to time. That is how, gardens sometimes affect me, God wot. A friend of mine claims that only the Devil walks in his garden. I have not run across Satan in mine . . . at least, not so as to recognize him. But I have come across traces of various smaller devils. At times these minor demons assume the forms of cats, dogs, birds, children, and other destructive creatures. But usually they sneak around at night, or under a cloak of invisibility, and you can identify them as devils only by the devilish perversity of their tricks. No children or dog or even an insect could imagine such things. A witch might, of course. Perhaps my garden is bewitched.

GOOD things die in it. Bad things prosper. One lawn has developed the heaves. When a horse has the heaves, or at least the dry heaves, I am told you wet its feed. But that's no good with a lawn. The other lawn is unsafe to walk upon, lest your feet suddenly drop through what seems plain turf and land you in some kind of abyss . . . putting you, so to speak, beneath the sod before your time.

Rock walls and embankments tumble down whenever they think they can trap you beneath them. Fences fall down, too, whenever they think of the price of lumber. The fir hedge is all shoulders and no hips or legs . . . it looks like an old-fashioned notion of an athlete. The peaches, carefully sprayed, get every known disease, while the peaches next door thrive on neglect. If any peaches do ripen, they are eaten by ants and wasps. Glass cloches are shattered as if by magic. Dogwood trees go off in a decline. Hardpan seems to get nearer the surface each year. Cherry trees split. Daffodils refuse to bloom. The false scabbards proved all too false.

In one bed the tree-poppies refuse to grow at all, and in the next bed they have a spread underground for simply miles and nothing will stop their taking over the entire garden before long. (The ones that are doing so well were planted on top of a 40-pound skate who looked so like our baker, we hadn't the heart to eat him.)

WELL, you know how long a list of woes like this could get. That sort of thing happens in all gardens, and I'd be churlish to complain about 10 or 20 little disasters per week. But sometimes there are just too many at once, and I realize something supernatural is at work against me, and my weak spirit fails.

Perhaps the hardest thing to bear is when two friends or two books give me contradictory advice. It is the Devil who sends me these friends and these books. One says "Lime" and the other says "No lime." One says "Dig" and the other says "Don't dig." One says cedar twigs poison your soil and the other says they improve it. One says "Prune it" and the other says "Let it alone, can't you?" To the Devil with them . . . back to the Devil that sent them. They are splitting my personality.

BUT for all my despair, I can now boast of something in my garden that you won't find very often. Something besides devils. I mean, and nicer than devils. Last week I built a new compost bin, and it is entirely made of oak planks, except for three or four planks of mahogany. Call that nothing? I bet there isn't another oak-and-mahogany compost bin on this street, or on many other streets. I hadn't much choice in the matter. Nothing but oak and mahogany seems to have washed up on my beach this winter.

And while using it thus seems slightly sinful, it would be more sinful to go out and buy cedar at present prices. Anyhow, being slightly sinful and luxurious is good for you, in small doses. A few years ago I'd have kept some of the oak for cooking beefsteaks on. Steak on oak chips is excellent. But how does one buy steaks any more? No, let the compost have the oak. We'll need lots of compost to grow the salads and things that have somehow replaced beef.

WHEN it comes to eating, I could almost eat good compost. I do not eat so much. I don't know if I'd care to eat plain compost, with maybe sugar and cream on it, but I'd not mind it in a stew or a thick soup. (I'd far rather have it in my soup than have bandages there . . . one day a barrow merchant in the Lilly Road or the North End Road, in the summer part of Fulham, London, tried to sell my wife some second-hand bandages, saying, "Ere y'are, mate, clean enough to put in yer soup." Disgusting? Maybe, but I found it more puzzling than disgusting.)

If Mark Twain found Mississippi mud wholesome in his drinking water, I think compost in your soup would be even more beneficial. At any rate, it feels me with a hungry, greedy pleasure just to see and touch the stuff.

I AM not a compost snob or compost crank, mind you. I do not seriously believe compost will get rid of ALL insects and diseases, the way the cranks claim it will (and all human diseases, too, they add). And on two trial patches last year, I grew lettuce better and faster on chicken manure than on compost. But surely you can love and admire and enjoy something without being a crank.

As Our Readers See It

IMPATIENT PATIENT

As a patient of the Royal Jubilee, entering the hospital on April 1, I was asked for co-insurance, plus the difference in rates between ward and private room.

I am one of the 60 people reported as being willing to pay. I was not willing but arrangements having been made for an operation the following morning it was imperative for me to enter hospital.

Fortunately, I was in a position to pay, but what of others in low income and small pension brackets?

If we are going to have hospital insurance, it is about time the thinking caps were put on, and the people receive something better than this.

AUTOCRATIC?

The letter of Mr. J. Stephenson (no address) in your issue of April 6, in which he claims Christianity is not autocratic, gives evidence the subject is of reader interest.

Christianity is based on selfishness. On the premise that obedience to dictatorship will escape eternal punishment, and the hope that it will merit eternal reward. And every Christian believes that very few beside he and his wife and a few others will escape hell and reach that abode of bliss. To the Christian the great mass is doomed to eternal damnation, as their literature proves.

Christianity has been built to its present status by men who stood in the pulpits of yesterday and in thunderous tones proclaimed the greatest happiness of Heaven would be looking down on the writings of the damned in hell.

Democracy did not originate and cannot survive in an environment of that autocratic nature.

L. J. PEPPER.

O CANADA

When I hear people singing "O Canada, we stand on guard for thee," I am constrained to ask myself the question—How much lip-service is there in this? and do these people even think of the native North American Red Indians as they are relegated to the unnatural confines of a reservation?

Do we pause sufficiently to consider the fact that once this O Canada was their home—their native land; now it's our home, our native land?

Have you, Mr. Editor, ever asked yourself the question, what crime did the North American Red Indian commit against humanity by being here before the white man?

Was he justified in resisting the encroachments of the white man?

If we justify the taking over of the native Indian's homeland on the grounds that we are putting the natural resources to the use intended, then are not others justified in their "right" to do the same to us if they so desperately need extra living room and can win it by "right of the sword?"

No, Mr. Editor, the bald facts are that we helped ourselves to this great Dominion, and, unless we have guts enough, and are able to defend it against all comers, we will have no more right to it than the people of Normandy, or England had a right to retain the sovereignty of their native land after the Normans moved in and took over by right of the sword.

W. E. G. CRISFORD.

HOW IT'S DONE

The following is an extract from a Saskatchewan daily paper dated Mar. 31: "Mr. Bentley (Minister of Health) gave Mr. Tucker (Opposition Leader) a list of patient-day rates now being paid to the 10 largest hospitals. They included $7.46 for Saskatoon City, $7.67 for Regina General, and other rates ranging from $6 up. The figure for Regina General was the highest listed, that for Saskatoon City Hospital second highest."

Believe it or not, Mr. Tucker was insisting that Saskatoon City Hospital was not being paid enough.

The Saskatchewan Hospital Insurance scheme shows a deficit of several thousand dollars, not millions, and the fact that the two and one half hours sufficed to discuss the operations of the scheme, and pass the item covering the ensuing year indicates that all concerned were satisfied with the administration and services rendered.

Might I suggest that an accountant from our Hospital Commission Service be sent to the headquarters of the province now operating an hospital insurance scheme, and now in its fourth year, to secure data and other related information.

I feel very confident that our B.C. Hospital Insurance scheme can be made workable on a basis satisfactory to all, but am afraid we will have to seek some of the solutions from outside of our province. We may monopolize the scenery of our Dominion, but not the brains.

A VICTORIAN.

Question Of Command

It would appear to be very much open to question whether Gen. MacArthur was or was not prepared to pay any attention to instructions from his own government or to any opinions of the United Nations. Personally I have every confidence in Gen. Eisenhower and I believe this confidence is pretty general everywhere.

But all the same, with an American in charge of the army—an American in command of the navy and an American in command of the air force, it would appear to me that it might be slightly inconvenient for the other members of the United Nations—and possibly the U.S.A. also, if any or all of these gentlemen should decide that they were going to do what they darned well liked regardless of any authority in the middle of a war, especially if their activities included decisions as to foreign policy as they might happen to think it should be pursued.

Of course it would all depend on how much political influence in the U.S.A. those concerned might happen to possess. As stated above—with Eisenhower in charge this kind of thing is quite unlikely but surely the Korean situation required drastic action.

Also as regards the naval command it would appear to a civilian that the one force that does understand the whole strategy likely to be necessary in a war such as the one that the whole world fears—that has the absolutely necessary knowledge of the European Atlantic seaboard and of the Mediterranean—is the British navy. Granted that the U.S.A. navy has had the most experience with her aircraft carriers, it must not be forgotten that submarine warfare might very easily be still more important and there can be no question at all as to who is the best authority in that field—I seem to remember a request for assistance when American shipping was being sunk all along the Atlantic coast.

Mapping Out The Defence Effort

By STEWART ALSOP, from Washington

IT MAY BE, as Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn broadly hinted in his hair-raising statement in the U.S. House recently, that Soviet intervention in Korea, the prelude to a third world war, is imminent. But there is no really new or really firm evidence that this is so. And there are reasons for believing that Rayburn was consciously employing a sort of shock treatment, in order to puncture the complacency which, as he said, is "lulling the American people to sleep."

This complacency, which you can almost smell on Capitol Hill, now worries responsible leaders like Rayburn as much as the fear of immediate war. One trouble certainly is that no national leader has yet really spelled out, in terms of money spent, arms produced and men at work, the true nature of the long and terribly hard task which lies ahead, if Soviet imperialism is not to triumph.

Yet there exists a detailed, well thought-out program, with a single objective—to strengthen the free world that the Soviets will not be tempted to risk war, even when they have built a decisive stockpile of atomic bombs.

It is worth trying to understand just what this program is. For, if there is no war, or if Congress does not invite war by hacking it to pieces, this long-range plan will set the whole pattern of life in this country for the next three or four years. The timetable for recreating strength is as follows:

By June 30, 1951, the end of the present fiscal year, Congress will have appropriated $57,600,000,000 for rearmament, including foreign military aid, according to present plans. Yet this great sum of money will not and can not result in an immediate comparable increase in armed strength.

SUMMER PROGRAM

Even so, by this summer, 7,000,000 Americans will either be in uniform or directly engaged in defence work.

Plans call for the appropriation of another $66,000,000,000 for American and European defence by the end of fiscal 1952. By this time, defence production will be hitting its stride, and almost $40,000,000,000 of this money will be translated into defence goods, from B-36s to chow for the GIs. Almost 11,000,000 people will be engaged in national defence.

By June 30, 1953, some $60,000,000,000 more will have been appropriated, well over 11,000,000 Americans will be working to strengthen defences, and a full $50,000,000,000 of war goods will come out of the machines.

After this, according to the program, the leveling-off period will begin. In fiscal 1954, appropriations of $40,000,000,000 will produce almost the same value in war goods, because of carry-overs from previous years. By 1955, the United States and its allies will have reached a really formidable level of military strength.

Then it will no longer be a question of a rapid build-up, but rather of maintaining the strength which has been built. Defence appropriations of $35,000,000,000 a year, which the American economy can carry quite easily, and the production of about $20,000,000,000 of defence goods yearly, should then be enough.

The trouble is that almost no one, to judge from the present mood of Congress, is willing to make this sort of effort, despite the fact that united, self-disciplined exertion by the United States and its allies, for a painful period of three or four years, could lead to a better time.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TORIN

"SOMETHING for nothing," said the Elevator Man. "It's a great principle. The psychology fellows tell us that sex, hunger and the urge to wield power are the great moving forces in our lives. But I think the urge to get something for nothing is well up there with them. Those other motives may keep us going, but the hope of something is what drives us to real heights of achievement. No woman who's ever gone to a bargain sale, no man who's ever plucked on the market or at the race track, nobody who's ever listened to a give-away program or risked his neck to pick up a coin in the roadway, can have any doubts about it. Sex, food and power are all right in their place and at the proper time, but the something-for-nothing urge is a full time master. It operates on a 24-hour day and a seven-day weakness. Going up!"

"If you want proof," said the Elevator Man, "take that example down in New Orleans the other day. A hatchery company advertised 10,000 chicks to be given away free. They expected a few hundred people to turn up. Instead, nearly 5,000 arrived to claim their chicks and it took police several hours to get them lined up and organized. That seems to prove something. Going down!"

"Perhaps," said the Elevator Man, "one of the reasons we're so enthusiastic when we get something for nothing is that we never really expect it till we see it. We don't really have full faith in the idea until the goods are actually delivered. In fact, we're pretty much like the folks in that congregation when the parson gathered his flock to pray for rain. 'Look at you,' he scolded. 'Here we are gathered together to pray for rain and not one of you has brought an umbrella.'"

By-Election Vote On Present System

Preferential Ballot Not Considered For Esquimalt

It is considered unlikely in top government circles that the preferential ballot, provided for in changes to the Elections Act introduced in the Legislature Wednesday night by Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith, will be used in the Esquimalt by-election this summer.

The new system of voting is to be proclaimed by the cabinet and although it could be used in the by-election, it is intended to have it declared law only when decision has been reached to split Coalition.

The amendments refer to the changes as "preferential balloting" although government officials said later that the new system of voting could be referred to as the alternative

PRESERVE TOTEM POLE ARTISTRY

The government has under advisement a plan to make concrete casts of Indian totem poles so the ancient primitive art of the natives will be preserved, it was reported in the Legislature Wednesday by Education Minister W. T. Straith.

Mr. Straith said wooden originals of totems disintegrated rapidly in the weather and to save the native art from becoming lost the cement replicas were being considered.

He was answering Randolph Harding, C.C.F.-Kaslo Slocan, who noticed the poles in Victoria's Thunderbird Park were becoming more weathered each year.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

Too often fussiness in taste
Proves costly in its needless waste.
—Old Mother Nature.

Big Claw the Land Crab is a dainty eater. His table manners, if you may call them such where there is no table, are perfect. He never gobbles his food. He never crams it into his mouth. He never bites off more than he can chew, or tries to swallow his dinner whole. He never drops his food. Dainty people never do, you know. He never tries to stuff his mouth full with both hands at once. It is no wonder Farmer Brown's boy called him Mr. Dainty.

Now one may be dainty in table manners without being fussy about one's food. It was just so with Mr. Dainty. Long ago when he was small, a very small Crab indeed, he had learned that the Crab who fusses over what he has to eat usually goes hungry, and that nothing is more uncomfortable than going hungry. It was a lesson that every Crab who would live to grow up must learn early in life, very early indeed, and Mr. Dainty had learned it. He had learned it very thoroughly.

At the same time he had learned something else of equal importance. This was that if he didn't get his own food no one would get it for him, and because the things he liked best to eat were not always easily found, it didn't do to be fussy about what he ate. It didn't do at all.

"A fussy Crab will be a hungry Crab, but a hungry Crab is never a fussy Crab," is one of Big Claw's favorite sayings, and he proves the truth of it himself by never going hungry long at a time.

"A Crab should always be dainty about how he eats, but never be fussy about what he eats," is another favorite saying of Big Claw the Land Crab.

Of all his neighbors in feathers, fur, shell, or just skin, none is more independent than Big Claw, the big blue Land Crab whom Farmer Brown's boy called Mr. Dainty. He was born independent. From the time he had hatched from a tiny egg he had looked out for himself. No mother or father or nurse ever had taken care of him. It hadn't taken him any time at all to know that no one was going to take care of him. He must find his own food, feed himself, and watch for and hide from hungry enemies who seemed always to be looking for him. So he ate what he could find and never allowed likes and dislikes to interfere with filling an empty stomach.

He early learned that down in the ground he was safe, and had little if anything to worry about, but above ground he never could be absolutely sure that he was safe. So when he was still very small he learned not to be afraid of work, as, alas, so many folks seem to be these days. It didn't take him long to find out that if he would have a home in the ground he must dig it himself, and the harder he worked the better the home.

He soon found out that it wasn't safe to go far from his own doorway, for many sharp eyes were always looking for young Crabs. So if at first he was a wee bit fussy about what he ate he soon got over it. I don't say that he was fussy, but if he was it didn't take him long to learn how foolish and dangerous that was. He ate whatever food was nearest to his doorway so that if need be he could scuttle back to safety in an instant. Anything he could eat he ate—green things, fruit that might drop near, fish if he was near the water and a dead fish happened to be washed up. He didn't care whether it was fresh or was what you or I would call spoiled.

So he ate whatever he could find where he found it, and the nearer to his doorway it was the more thankful he was. Nearness was more to be desired than freshness or taste. But even when he was farther from his doorway than he felt was really safe, he still ate daintily and refused to be hurried. So he grew and grew until he was a middle-size Crab. Then he grew and grew until he became the big Crab he now was, still dainty, but not fussy.

HOME GARDEN

by Jack Beasall

With so many products on the market for the extermination of pests it is surprising that we have not attained a higher degree of control over these pillagers.

Possibly the first drawback is the bug books. A good book may list anywhere from 100 to several thousand insects which are known to damage plants, and the magnitude of the work is sufficient to scare anyone.

If we eliminate those pests not common to our corner of the world, and then select for study only those which affect the flowers, vegetables, or trees which we have in our garden, the subject is easier to assimilate.

The second cause could be that the average gardener, on finding a damaged plant, fails to determine the pest responsible, and thereby knows nothing of its life-cycle or habits. It is useless to spray for a fly when it is still in its grub stage underground, and just as futile to dust only once for insects which hatch-out every 10 days or two weeks.

The third cause may be the confusion created by the many insecticides being offered for sale under trade names. From the technical papers the gardener learns that a new chemical has proven effective against a specific insect. He may search the stores for a long time before he discovers that he has passed a dozen products using the new chemical as a base, but offered under a dozen different names. Then there is the effect of hearing that a certain control material has damaged a neighbor's plants. No matter how good it may be, it will be blamed for the results although the actual cause was the use of the wrong material, not using a measuring-spoon when mixing, or failure to read the manufacturer's directions.

Brown Gets Showdown

Tilly Rolston had a date with Don Brown in the Legislature Wednesday and true to springtime tradition, the meeting place was the park.

It wasn't a hand-in-hand stroll through the glades that Vancouver Burrard's Brown had planned for the lone woman private member, though.

He didn't have any "sweet nothings" to whisper in her ear. Brown wanted a showdown with Vancouver Point Grey's new Independent member on a subject dear to his heart—a subject incidentally which has resulted in tiffs between the two on previous occasions.

He got his wish. Arising to speak on the annual vote to the Department of Lands and Forests, the usually mild-mannered Brown who vacated the deputy speaker's chair so he could have his say, wasted little time getting to the bench that was furthest removed from Lovers' Lane.

As a member of an independent commission which administers the famous Garibaldi Park, Brown was fed to the teeth with what he considered were "continual attacks" by Mrs. Rolston. Mrs. Rolston wanted the park taken over by the lands and forests department, but, said Brown, she had been told time and time again in plain language that if this action was taken the little development the independent board was able to make would be halted altogether.

Brown said Mrs. Rolston still was "bitterly criticizing and sniping at the board, and harping away at every opportunity behind the back of the board."

Mrs. Rolston demanded retraction. Brown said he wouldn't. Coming to the rescue of the lady in distress were Opposition Leader Winch and other members of the C.C.F. who said retraction would have to be made if proof of the statement wasn't submitted.

Brown held firm until his political boss, Finance Minister Anscomb, suggested he had made his point and should retract. "All right then," said Brown. "I'll retract the statement, but I mean what I said."

Canadian Vimy Memorial Is Restored

MONTREAL (CP)—The little Canadian Vimy Memorial Church at Lens, France, has been restored for its congregation of 500 Protestant miners and their families.

The French reformed Church was destroyed during the second world war, but the miners and their womenfolk banded together to rebuild the structure with materials bought by sympathetic Canadians.

The church's godmother, 86-year-old Mrs. Bieler, is the only surviving member of the original church committee. She's looking for a successor to carry the load in the church's financing program.

A Canadian drive for $3,000 for the building fund following the second world war fell short. However, the miners went ahead and built the church from out of the rubble. A manse is now under construction next to the church. Mrs. Bieler says that Canadian Protestants should be proud of the church and the privilege to co-operate in its restoration.

11k Fishermen

PRINCE ALBERT (CP)—Flocks of ravens ranging over northern Saskatchewan are keeping fishermen and trappers on the jump.

The airborne predators are robbing fish nets, eating fish left on the ice overnight by fishermen, and ruining pelts of trapped fur-bearing animals.

"They're as wily as a wolf," said one trapper. "If you are carrying a gun they keep their distance, but if not they strut around as tame as pigeons."

'Guardsman' Presented By Winnipeg Theatre

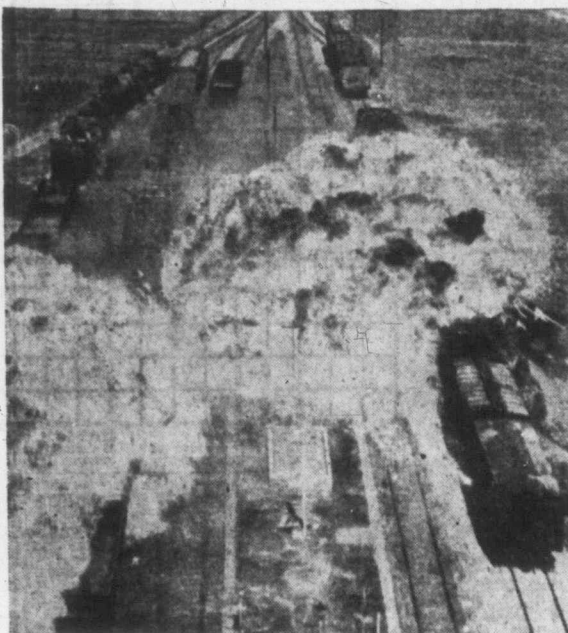

WINNIPEG (CP)—A little more work needed on the technical side of their production, "The Guardsman," was the main criticism advanced Monday night by Adjudicator Robert G. Newton to the Winnipeg Little Theatre group.

Their production started off the Manitoba Regional Drama Festival, last in the regional series preceding the Dominion competition later this month.

Pioneer B.C. Church Needs $1,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—One of the first churches of British Columbia needs $1,000 badly.

The Anglican Church of St. John the Divine at Yale—Fraser Canyon town 100 miles north-east of Vancouver—was opened on June 10, 1860. A rugged army of pioneers and frontiersmen worshipped there.

Today the church, still used by Yale residents, badly needs repairs.

With $900 on hand for the job, they need another $1,000 which they hope will be contributed through the synod office by interested individuals.

The church is the second oldest in the diocese of New Westminster, and the oldest standing on its original site. It has seen fur traders, gold miners, C.P.R. crews and Indians pass through its doors. Now the Trans-Canada Highway winds past nearby.

Once it was closely associated with All Hallows School—centre of learning in the west at that time—till the Anglican sisters left and returned to England in 1916. Hundreds of today's pioneer women were educated there.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

Whom would you rather have for a partner—a good bidder whose play is poor or a poor bidder whose play is good? My opinion is illustrated by this hand.

In the first room, the good bidder reached the excellent contract of six spades as shown in the diagram. West opened the queen of diamonds, and dummy won with the king. Now Mr. Good Bidder led a low spade from dummy. East played low, and declarer won with the king of spades in his own hand.

When West failed to follow suit, Mr. Good Bidder came to the sickening realization that he could not make his contract. East was bound to make two trump tricks. East would save the ace to kill dummy's jack, after which either his ten or his nine would make a second trump trick.

It is easy to see that correct play would prevent East from winning two trump tricks. After winning the first trick with the king of diamonds, declarer should lead the jack of spades from the dummy.

There is no problem unless one of the opponents has all of the missing trumps. If West has all four trumps, he cannot be prevented from winning two tricks. If East has all four trumps, it is imperative to lead the jack of spades from dummy at trick two.

When the jack of spades is led East wins with his ace. Regardless of the return, dummy wins and leads a trump. East can play the nine, but South wins with the queen and re-enters dummy in order to finesse through the ten of spades.

This line of play was adopted by Mr. Good Player at the second table. He therefore succeeded in making 12 tricks.

Remember, however, that we have already warned you that Mr. Good Player does not bid very well. He was in a contract of seven spades.

You pay your money and you take your choice.

Q—With neither side vulnerable, your partner deals and bids one diamond. The next player doubles. You hold: Spades 7-3, Hearts 6-5-4, Diamonds K-9-3-2, Clubs K-8-7-4. What do you do?

A—Bid two diamonds. This raise shows a weak hand with fair diamond support. It can hardly shut the opponents out, but it may indicate a paying sacrifice bid to your partner. If you do not show your meager strength now you will probably never get another inexpensive chance to do so.

LVII
Reaching the upper landing Caroline paused for a moment. Biting her lower lip, she forced herself into the frame of mind she had decided would be necessary. Then, quite calmly and deliberately, she went up to the big double doors and opened one of them.

Letty was over in the far corner of the large room, dwarfed by the tall, uncurtained windows. She did not hear the door open, for she had her back to it, being busy adjusting a full-length mirror so that it would reflect the feet upon the floor.

"Miss Merridew," Letty turned quickly, recognizing the voice in an instant. "Caroline!" She took a step or two forward from the mirror, then remained standing, quite still again.

Caroline went out across the empty floor towards her—and even the rustle of her skirts seemed to proclaim, "I come in peace."

"How nice of you to call Caroline. It is so long, now, since we last saw each other."

"Would you mind if I sat down for a moment? I know I'm in the way, but I just want to say something. It isn't very easy."

Caroline sat in the hard chair and looked away, lowering her chin so that the brim of her hat covered her eyes. She paused just long enough, before going on, for the grey dress, the subdued manner, the quiet voice to have their full effect.

"Why... what is it, Caroline?"

"I came to say I was sorry, Letty."

Letty herself sat down for a moment, on the chair next to Caroline's. It was difficult for her to adjust herself, immediately to the words. For a painful moment she wondered whether the new attitude was genuine—and looked closely at Caroline, studying her. Every line of the figure at her side pointed to sincerity.

"I behaved very badly to you, Letty."

"It was your home, Caroline. I suppose I had little right to expect any... well, let me say thank you for coming, and let's not talk about it any more, shall we?"

Letty rose, in some distress, and went on straightening the chairs against the wall, a little absently. "I know how hard it must have been for you to come here," she said, "I appreciate it, Caroline."

Caroline stood up and walked slowly along the floor. It was fortunate that Letty was unable to see her face, for the lips were drawn hard, and there was a light in the eyes that was neither penitent nor compassionate.

For the present, Jervis Braid could see as much of Letty Merridew as he wished; could ignore the Murray house as completely as he chose. But this girl was going to realize that not with equanimity could she steal the affections of a man who had been on the point of betrothal.

Caroline looked across at Letty and her spirits rose swiftly. The sense of success in her role gratified her. But she remembered that the act was not quite over. There was a suggestion to make—for that, in fact, was the purpose of her visit. She relaxed the lines of her mouth, and also of her body. And when she turned round to Letty again she presented a picture of tender and unquestioning regret.

"Couldn't I help you, Letty? I think it's a wonderfully brave thing you're doing here."

"No thank you—I'm quite ready for them now."

"Well, if ever I can be of use... I hear you may plan to give a Children's Dancing Display to the public, here in Victoria?"

"I'm hoping to. Amelia thinks it might be successful."

"But not in the Alhambra, Letty. May I make a suggestion?"

"Why of course?"

"I happen to know Mr. Dukes—the manager of the Colonial Theatre. Think how much better it would be—and how many more tickets you'd be able to sell—if you could hold such a display in the theatre!"

"But surely he wouldn't let me do that? I thought only theatrical companies..."

"Don't worry about that. I think I could persuade him—if you think my idea's a good one, of course."

Letty contemplated the suggestion with growing enthusiasm. If this venture was to be a success, the wider it was known the better. And no better recommendation could be imagined than a gala performance at the Colonial Theatre.

"I realize you wouldn't want to commit yourself immediately, Letty—you'll want to talk it over with Amelia. I'll just speak to Mr. Dukes about it, anyway." (To be continued)

Hardly the most enthusiastic looking individuals at Queens Park last night after the Cougars went down to a 7 to 3 defeat at the hands of New Westminster Royals were Jack McIntyre, left, and Eddie Mazur. The gium

'Twas A Sad Night Indeed For Victoria Hockey Fans

looks on their faces truly reflect the general appearance of the Cougars' dressing room. In action on the ice, right, the Cougars more than held their own but found goals hard to get. Here, Bernie Strongman attempts to freeze the puck against the boards as Royals' Clayton Lavell is sent his way by Cougars' Joe Lepine (3). Other Royal is Butch Houle, defenceman. Fifth game of the series will be played here Friday.

Royals Do It The Easy Way

Plaster Cougars To Force Fifth Game Here Friday

By BILL WALKER

NEW WESTMINSTER—For the benefit of those who came in late, the New Westminster Royals last night sent Victoria's brazen young Cougars home with their respective tails between their legs to the tune of a 7 to 3 licking at Queen's Park Arena.

This came about when the Royals used the simple expedient of putting the puck in the net while the Cougars did everything else but.

It was such a hockey game with the Royals making good use of their scoring opportunities and the Cougars doing the opposite. And the net result of the wasted evening on the part of the Cougars means that the fifth game of the Pacific Coast Hockey League finals will be played at the Memorial Arena Friday night at 8.30.

Granting the Cougars gave goalie Lucien Dechene an interesting evening especially in the second period and outplayed the Royals by wide margin in the final stanza, results still pay off in goals and Dechene wasn't in a goal-giving mood.

Dechene Springs The Trap

One stop of Dechene's in particular was the straw that sprung the trap for the unsuspecting men of Roger Leger. That was in the second period with the Royals on top, 3 to 1, and the Cougars on their way back from a 3 to 0 deficit.

Eddie Mazur fired a blistering drive that had goal written all over it but Dechene erased the lettering with a sensational save. Minutes thereafter Bob Paul stickhandled his way unmolested across the Cougar blue line and backhanded a soft screen shot that Cotnoir didn't appear to see.

That made it 4 to 1, enough for the Royals as things turned out, but more was yet to come.

After Andy Heberton missed the open net on a rebound, Bob Koch intercepted a clearing pass from the Cougar rightwinger and put Fashaway in position for the Royals fifth goal.

The Cougars gave it a good rattle both on the ice and in a few personal feuds with the Royals in the final canto, and did slice into the lead, but not before Cotnoir blew his top on a goal by Don Slater.

Jerry Annoyed—Slightly

The incident which made Jerry's blood pass the boiling point came when Slater, parked right in front of the net, caught the puck, looked at Cotnoir, dropped the disc when he had picked his spot and fired it into the net.

For his rash judgment in questioning referee Dick Davis on the play, Cotnoir received a 10-minute misconduct penalty, one of three such disciplinary moves applied by said Mr. Davis. Stan Long got one of the others for speaking out of turn at the end of the first period and Clayton Lavell of the Royals picked up the final major misdemeanor for a similar offence.

Cotnoir's little tiff seemed to inspire the Cougars, however, and with the Royals short-handed while Butch Houle served two of the 52 minutes spent in penance during the fray, Bob Frampton rifled a bullet drive past Dechene on a double relay from Reg Abbott and Eddie Dorohoy.

Twelve minutes later at 16.54 and after several abortive efforts, Jack McIntyre found the twine on a pass from Eddie Mazur.

If matters weren't bad enough Bob Bergeron added insult to the Cougars' injured pride by lofting a long one in through a maze of players at 19.04 to wind up the fourth game of the best-of-seven final.

It Was All Over Early

For the record and a blot the Cougars would like to forget, Joe Peterson gave the Royals the lead early in the first period when his long shot eluded Cotnoir's outstretched hand and found the top corner.

Hermie Gruhn was the marksman who upped the count to 2 to 0, while Eddie Dorohoy was off for tripping at 8.27, also in the first period, and Ollie Dorohoy was the smoothie who made it 3 to 0 on a clean-cut break in the second.

Eddie Dorohoy finished off a power play from Abbott and Leger to put the Cougars on the scoresheet for the first time in the middle frame.

It was shortly after that that Dechene shut the door on Mazur and probably saved the game by doing it.

And so, Victorians may get their wish after all. At least the Cougars will be pulling all stops as they shoot for the title and the Phil Henderson Trophy at Victoria Friday.

It was a grim and silent crew which boarded the plane for home at midnight and a quiet Cougar is a mean foe.

Summary follows:

First Period—1, New Westminster, Peterson (Houle), 8:44; 2, New Westminster, Gruhn (Houle), 10:27; 3, New Westminster, Dorohoy (Bergeron), 16:54 (10-minute misconduct).
Second Period—3, New Westminster, O. Dorohoy, 3:24; 4, Victoria, E. Dorohoy (Abbott), 7:20; 5, New Westminster, Slater (Paul), 12:12; 6, New Westminster, Slater (Houle), 14:32; 7, New Westminster, Huddleston (Slater), 16:54; 8, Victoria, McIntyre (E. Dorohoy), 18:04; 9, Victoria, McIntyre (E. Dorohoy), 19:04. Penalties: Leger, Cotnoir (10-minute misconduct, served by Strongman); Houle, Pratt, Lavell (10-minute misconduct, Lapina).
Shots stopped: Dechene 40, Cotnoir 22.

Bruins Seek Three Changes In Puck Rules

BOSTON (AP)—Three rules changes will be advocated by two executives of Boston Bruins when they meet with other National Hockey League officials in Toronto today.

President Weston Adams and general manager Art Ross will advocate removal of the red line to allow forward passing from the defensive zone of the far end of the middle zone.

Adams and Ross also would have the puck carrier lead a rush into the attacking zone—to prevent jamming around the goal—otherwise a face-off would be ordered.

The Boston officials also would provide goals scored against an unguarded net would have to be shot from inside the offensive blue line.

Fishermen Mop Up City Hockey League Laurels

Like the good housekeepers they are Fishermen's Co-op. cleaned up, tidy-like, in the Commercial Hockey League last night. First they dusted off a clinging mass of hockey players dubbed Civil Service, 6 to 5, for their fourth straight win in the playoff finals; then they got the job of polishing the silverware.

Both league and playoff cups went into the keeping of Captain Harry Harris, limping onto the ice for the ceremonies; the scoring trophy to the incomparable Ed Varga, the best goalie award to Jack Walker, and the most valuable player cup to coach Jimmy Neilson.

Not a single prize escaped them, and the smallest house of the season applauded the well-deserved honors.

FROM BEHIND
In winning four straight, the Co-ops left no lingering shadow of a doubt that they were the class of the 1950-51 Monday nighters.

Short-handed in last night's fixture—dressing only 10 men until Connie McBeth arrived from work midway in the third period—the Fishermen climbed from behind a 3 to 0 deficit, only to go down 5 to 3 with 15 minutes remaining in the game. They rectified the situation with three goals in five minutes and held off a frenzied Civil Service attack in the dying moments.

From the opening face-off the Civil Service played their best game of the year. Before the first period was half over Rod

W.I.L. Batting Champ Prefers Farm To Tribe

SPOKANE (AP)—It will take more money than the Spokane Indians of the Western International League can offer to lure Glen Stetter from his farm near Salem, Ore.

Stetter, the league's batting champion last year, said Wednesday he has refused the contract offered him by the Indians. He said he "cannot afford to play for what they (the Indians) offer."

This news was a blow to Spokane manager Alan Strange who had thought it would be only a matter of time until he had-hitting outfielder made his appearance. "It's going to hurt us heavily," he said.

"We offered him a substantial increase over last year," said Roy Hotchkiss, owner of the Indians. "The salary was as high as we can go in this league."

IKE WILLIAMS TO GO AFTER WELTER TITLE

CHICAGO (UP)—Light-weight champion Ike Williams aimed today for a Ray "Sugar" Robinson trick—going out of his usual division to win a crown in a heavier class.

"We're aiming for a bout with the winner of the Johnny Bratton-Kid Gavilan (welterweight title) bout in Chicago sometime this summer," his manager, Blinky Palermo, announced after Williams had punched out an unanimous decision over Fitzie Pruden in the Chicago stadium last night.

"I don't think Williams as good as the heavier weight as he is a lightweight," Palermo said, "but he's good enough to beat anybody in the welterweights now."

Williams had plenty of stuff at 145½ pounds, which was also Pruden's weight, last night.

Browning Inks Rock Contract; To Arrive Soon

Manager Ralph Baker of Victoria Shamrocks today confirmed a long-standing rumor that Archie Browning will play with the Rocks this week.

Browning, who topped the goal-scoring statistics of the Ontario Lacrosse League last year, signed with the Victoria squad this week.

Still a holdout for steady employment in the city is Whitney Severson, who was Browning's team mate in the east last year. Severson is known to prefer Victoria but is anxious to locate permanently before signing.

NANAIMO SEEKS BAKER
Up-island stories that Norm Baker, brother of Shamrocks' Ralph Baker, may play for Nanaimo are discounted here. A Shamrock official said today that the big professional basketball player is almost certain to sign when he has recuperated from the leg infection which has been bothering him. He is watching his weight, which registered 199 when he stepped on the scales here last week-end.

"There is no question but that Nanaimo would like to have him," said the Victoria official, "but unless they are ready to offer something really good in the way of employment and future prospects I can't see Baker in anything but a Shamrock uniform this year."

Walters Takes A.A.U. Crown

BOSTON (CP)—Len Walters, sharpshooting Vancouver featherweight, last night won the United States amateur boxing championship of the 126-pound division by scoring a technical knockout over Jerry McGuigan of Cambridge, Mass.

The referee stopped the bout after 40 seconds of the second round. Tournament officials said they believed it was the first time a Canadian boxer ever won an American A.A.U. title.

Walters took his semifinal bout with a decision over Walter Brown of Baltimore.

HURLS NO-HITTER

Browns Have At Least One Pitcher In Garver

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—There's little question about it now—Ned Garver is St. Louis Browns' best pitcher.

Last night he hurled eight hitless innings to blank St. Louis Cardinals 1 to 0 in a spring exhibition. Lou Sleater then completed the no-hitter by handcutting the Redbirds batters in the final frame after Ned went out for a pinch-hitter.

It wasn't a perfect eight inning—three walks, a hit batsman and an error by a teammate put Redbirds on base. But only three Cardinals hit flies and the closest bid for a base hit was from Joe Garagiola. Ken Wood backed against the right field fence for Joe's fourth-inning drive.

After last night's game, Garver commented:

Coleman's Column

By JIM COLEMAN

QUESTIONS WHICH DON'T REQUIRE ANY ANSWERS: Since the Norries were kind enough to give Terry Sawchuk a bonus of $1,000 after he lost the Vezina Trophy by one goal, are they likely to award a similar bonus to each of the Detroit Red Wings for losing to Montreal Canadiens in the first round of the Stanley Cup playoffs? . . . And, are the sports scribes (including this one) going to attempt to name the winners of any more hockey series or are they just going to stick to those simple five-horse parlayes? . . . Why was Bill Tobin, president of the Chicago Black Hawks, looking so unhappy during the Montreal-Detroit series? . . . Was he merely worrying about the players who will be sent to him by the Detroit Red Wings in their next "Big Trade"? . . . And, did he lower his chin to half-mast respectfully when the Red Wings blew the duke again last Saturday night? . . . And, weren't most Canadian hockey fanatics glad to see another All-Canadian final, even if we humor our national pride in other seasons by saying: "Oh, after all, the players on all those

Coleman

American teams are Canadians, too?" . . . And, even if he loses this one, doesn't Dick Irvine deserve the "Coach of the Year" title for persuading the Canadiens to climb off the floor after they had been flattened repeatedly in mid-season? . . . And, is Ted Kennedy, the sole survivor of the Maple Leafs of 1943-44, likely to forget the night that the Canadiens eliminated them from the playoffs and added insult to injury by firing 13 shots past Paul Bibeault in the Toronto goal?

And have the fickle fans forgotten that—despite those 13 goals—Bibeault was the only member of the bewildered Toronto team who played like a professional? . . . And, have survivors Elmer Lach, Maurice Richard, Glen Harmon, Butch Bouchard and Irvin forgotten the thrill of that season—the first Montreal Canadian Stanley Cup win in 14 years?

And, aren't hockey fanatics in other Canadian provinces anxious to listen to an occasional Montreal home-game instead of being served their regular diet of Toronto games? . . . And, are Frank McCool's ulcers still bubbling out there in Calgary as he listens to the broadcasts and recalls the season that he scored three successive shutouts when the Maple Leafs were beating Detroit in the Stanley Cup finals? . . . And, wasn't Ralph Allen, the editor of Maclean's Magazine, an impertinent fellow to send your correspondent a 1,000-franc pari-mutuel ticket, all the way from Paris, France, by air-mail—particularly since the ticket was another dud? . . . And, wasn't it quite unnecessary for him to write on the back of it: "Have found another live one. Send more money!" . . . Wasn't it ill-luck dogging Lee Lear in his first horse-breeding experiment when his mare, Fay Mate, gave birth to twins, which, generally, don't amount to much as race horses. . . The football coach of the Calgary Stampeders promptly dubbed his filly-foals "The Touchdown Twins." . . . As a stallion, Lear has that honest old pelt, Baby Broom, who traveled from coast-to-coast in box-cars so many times that he became almost as well known as The King of The Hoboes. . . . And aren't many western horsemen missing a bet when they fail to nominate their colts for Canada's richest running-race—the $15,000 King's Plate at Woodbine?

Or, is their reluctance based on the fact that the Ontario Jockey Club stubbornly insists upon staging the race at the start of the season, instead of waiting until later in the summer when the horses have been able to "get some legs under them?" . . . And, isn't it a fact that the short, hard-training season for The King's Plate has broken down literally hundreds of horses which, if they had been spared the ordeal, might have become useful performers? . . . How much longer is the Ontario Government going to bar the harness-racing men from staging night-racing in that province? . . . And, have they heard the report that E. P. Taylor, the sportsman-industrialist, is buying Thorncliffe Park where the trotters made a hit with Toronto audiences last year?

How come that Conn Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, was so jubilant when he heard that Les Canadiens had eliminated Detroit Red Wings? . . . Can it be that he is a recruit to the campaign to "Break Up The Norries"? . . . And what have those boys done to earn such popularity—apart from the fact that they have monopolized the professional sports industry? . . . And, why doesn't some independent citizen sponsor the idea of getting all the professional sports promoters into one room—then arm with fire-axes, lock the door and let them fight it out? . . . Whatever became of Arthur King, the British Empire lightweight champion, and his plans to wrest the world title from his whilom stable-mate, Ike Williams? . . . Will Tommy Gorman use his blarney to persuade that great gentleman, Viscount Alexander, to grace the home-opening of the Ottawa Giants in the International League? . . .

Symphony Society Hopes To Clear $3,685 Deficit

The Victoria Symphony Society has just concluded a season which, artistically, has been the most successful in its 10 years of existence, members were told at the annual meeting held Wednesday night.

Treasurer J. C. Melville's report revealed that there had been a loss of $3,685 on the eight subscription concerts but that through guarantors and other subscribers, the overall deficit on April 9 stood at $3,685.

This amount includes a $1,500 deficit carried over from last season. Mr. Melville pointed out: a figure which, in itself, had been reduced from a considerably larger one.

It is expected that the present amount will be further reduced, or wiped out during the next few weeks, particularly if the concert scheduled for April 30 in the Memorial Arena is well-supported.

An outstanding donation was that of Mrs. Margaret Thayer, contralto soloist in the performances of the "Messiah" and the Mozart Requiem, who returned her fee to the society as well as making other gifts.

With the assurance that Hans

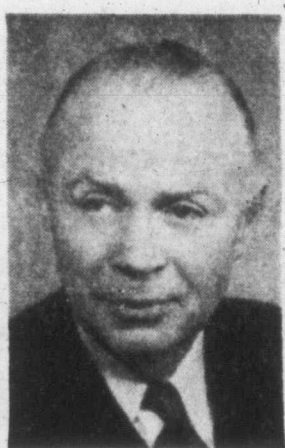

Gruber will continue as musical director, plans for next season are already under way. These include more student concerts as well as the eight subscription concerts.

Plans also include an intensive membership campaign.

Concerning the April 30 concert at which the Beethoven Ninth Symphony will be presented, it was reported that the orchestra is donating its services for this event and that four out-of-town guest artists will take part.

Mrs. D. B. Roxburgh reported the Women's Committee, had raised the sum of $1,000 for the society during the season.

Following 19 members were chosen for the board of directors: Mrs. Massy Goulden, Mrs. Elza Mayhew, Mrs. D. B. Roxburgh and Messrs. Alan Baker, H. J. Davis, J. F. K. English, Charles Field, Willard Ireland, Stuart Keate, R. T. McKean, J. C. Melville, Roy Murdoch, Graham Steed, Walter Stenner, J. H. Wade, M. V. Chestnut, Dr. W. H. Hickman, Dr. H. P. Johns and Dr. Roger J. Manning. Mr. G. Shaw will be the representative of the orchestra.

Style Simplicity Marks Two-Piano Team

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

Those monarchs of the dual keyboard, Pierre Luboshutz and Genia Nemenoff, wrote an unforgettable finale to the Famous Artists' 1950-51 season of concerts, Wednesday night, at the Royal Theatre. The famous pair had an appreciative audience.

Aside from their personal charm the special quality that sets them apart from any other two-piano team, is the refreshing simplicity of their style, which allows them to share completely without obscuring heroics, the whole of their musical experience with their listeners.

At times they are the devoted high priests of absolute music, throughout the first half of Wednesday night's program for instance: in the sustained and limpid Bach and the breath-taking brilliance and beauty of the Mozart D major Sonata for two pianos. The Brahms Variations on a Theme by Haydn was a flawless performance; poised, subject to the widest possible range of color but controlled by a marvelous continuity and unanimity of thought.

In the final half of the program they were the apostles of joyous modernity: The Milhaud "Scaramouche Suite," vivid with flaring color and vital rhythms and the lulling gaiety of themes from Strauss's "Fledermaus" arranged by Luboshutz.

Encores were vehemently demanded at the close and three were given.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

'Song Soldiers Say Goodbye With' Once In Wastebasket

By VIRGINIA MACPHERSON
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Thirty-three years ago the late Richard Whiting wrote "Till We Meet Again," played it once and threw it in the wastebasket.

The song Margaret Whiting's father thought was no good has been recorded by 41 different people, sold 6,000,000 records and 7,000,000 copies of sheet music, and has even been used as a hymn by various church choirs.

By now it's a standard American classic and a special favorite with G.I.'s on their way overseas—thanks to Mrs. Whiting.

She fished it out of the wastebasket back in Detroit in 1918, smoothed out the crumpled pages and entered it in a "war song contest" at a local theatre.

It won. And that year doughboys marched to their ships humming: "Wedding bells will ring so merrily."

Twenty-four years later G.I.'s whistled the tune on their way to the Pacific.

And this year Korea-bound troops have besieged army disc jockeys for "that song you say good-bye to your girl with."

"It almost didn't get written in the first place," Mrs. Whiting smiled. "But the country hadn't had any wars for a long time. There were no good farewell songs."

When Whiting died Feb. 10, 1938, it was sung at his funeral and the musical notes for the first few bars were inscribed on his grave marker.

Therapy Centres Recommended For Cancer Treatment

A recommendation that radiation therapy centres be planned to serve population units of 1,000,000, cutting across provincial boundaries where necessary, was made by a special advisory committee of the National Cancer Institute of Canada, Dr. Ethlyn Trapp of Vancouver, director of the B.C. Division, reported today.

Only but centralizing treatment to this degree is it practical to achieve the desired standards of effective treatment of patients, facilities for training future medical, technical and nursing personnel and safety of personnel, the committee maintained.

The committee pointed out that in the United States the rate of cancer cures is as much as four times better in areas served by fully manned and equipped therapy centres.

Training Ship Cruise Slated Next Week-end

Next week-end H.M.C.S. Malahat, Victoria's Reserve Navy Division, will make a cruise to Ganges on its training ship, the Sault Ste. Marie, with 12 Boy Scouts as passengers.

For the boys, all King scouts, this will be their first trip to sea on a war vessel.

EARLY INHABITANTS

The Indian population of the United States in 1492 was estimated recently at 846,000.

Spry, Old Londoner Laughs At Scots

LONDON (Reuter)—A spry little 77-year-old Londoner has been having a quiet laugh on the Scottish for many years.

He is Albert Henry Stark, who in a little factory in North London makes that most Scottish of musical instruments — ooh aye, the bagpipes.

He does it with a chuckle, because he supplies many of the crack regimental Scottish bands, not just in Scotland, but all over the world. He's never been to Scotland himself, and hasn't a single Scot in his employ.

Queen Victoria is to blame for it. She picked up a love of bagpipes while visiting Balmoral, her Scottish seat, and insisted on having pipers around her even in London.

One of these was the late William Ross. He suggested to Albert Henry's father, a flute-maker, that he go into the bag-pipe business.

Stark was horrified at first. Bagpipes after dulcet flutes. But Ross prevailed, and soon the wall of the bagpipes was rising in London's foggy air.

Ross used the London-made pipes himself in more than one championship competition. He even introduced them into the band of the famous Scots Guards.

Gandhi Fasts To Protest Race Laws

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Manil Gandhi, 58-year-old son of India's late Mohandas K. Gandhi, was reported "very weak and very tired" today from five days of a proposed 14-day fast to protest South Africa's racial laws.

NO CURVES

World's longest stretch of straight railway tracks is on the Australian Transcontinental, 328 miles dead straight.

When you add it all up...

WHEN you consider the men, women and money needed to operate 3,700 branches — you see what is involved in looking after the greatly increased demands made by busy Canadians upon their chartered banks.

In ten years... with bigger staffs and higher wages, payrolls have jumped from $40 million a year to $102 million

... taxes, federal, provincial and municipal, have risen from $9.5 million to $20.7 million a year

... interest paid to depositors has increased from $22 million to $57.8 million a year.

And these are only three of many expense items. Yes, today more than ever, it costs money to run a bank.

Jet Stream Now Predicts Weather

CHICAGO (AP)—A new-found factor in the weather already is solving many forecasting puzzles.

Called the "jet stream" by University of Chicago scientists who discovered it, it is a narrow wind with speeds up to 300 miles an hour. It rides six to 10 miles above the earth, always moving from west to east, near the top of the atmospheric envelope.

Telling about its discovery, university scientist Herbe Riehl said the swift current is considered the hatchery for much of the world's weather.

A tremendous storm which hit the United States last Nov. 25 came three days after a jet stream had passed at 150 miles an hour. Damage was estimated at $400,000,000 and 278 deaths were attributed to the high winds, rain, snow and blizzards.

hatched by the jet stream. Jet-stream information had not been incorporated in general forecasts then, but Riehl thinks observation of that and other examples will help detect similar possibilities in the future.

The jet stream also is coming into some commercial use. Air liner pilots are learning to utilize it as an auxiliary power source.

Suggest Industrial Board Be Overhauled

Decade Of Effort Needed—Pearkes

WINNIPEG (CP)—Great sacrifices of time, money and effort will have to be made possibly for the next decade, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive Conservative M.P. for Nanaimo, told Winnipeg war veterans Wednesday night.

During this period the free nations must use reasonable restraint and show sufficient strength to avoid another age of "blood, sweat and tears," he said.

Gen. Pearkes said that with the awakening of China and other Asiatic countries, Russia was trying to harness their spirit of nationalism to her own needs.

The challenge to the British Commonwealth, he said, was to stem and stop the rot setting in in those countries.

Athabaskan Blows Up Sea Mine

TOKYO (CP)—The Canadian destroyer Athabaskan destroyed a floating mine Wednesday while operating with a United Nations light-carrier task group in strikes at military installations on North Korea's east coast.

A Far East naval headquarters operations summary said the Athabaskan was screening the fast carrier force.

Although hampered by bad weather, the summary reported U.N. naval forces continued bombarding military installations on the east coast Wednesday from the sea and from the air.

British and U.S. marine planes flying from the carriers Thesus and Bataan ranged from the Sonjin area south along the coast to the vicinity of Kosong.

Targets hit included 28 small water craft, vehicles, boxcars and a supply dump.

Brutal Young Thugs Given Lengthy Terms

By ART STOTT

Well, I've thought for years that I should quit smoking. Mr. Abbott's just reminding me of my good intentions. Too bad he didn't bring down his budget on Jan. 1. It would have given more strength to a lot of New Year's resolutions. Only what am I going to do with the two cartons of Tip Top cigarette papers friends have brought me from Seattle. They looked like the best bargain I ever made — 150 leaves per book at five cents, against 100 leaves a pack for 13 cents in Canada. Through the American deal, I was almost smoking at a profit. Now the tax is off Canadian papers and is up, up, up on tobacco. Looks as if I'll have to hold my papers until the spiraea blossoms and dries out. We used to smoke that flower wrapped in brown paper as kids, and our mouths and throats were more sensitive in those days.

Stott

THEN THERE ARE roots and rushes that wash up on the beach, salt-cured. They're a little hot for smoking, though, and they don't solve the problem of the cigarette papers. Just what has tobacco given me that I wouldn't be better without? It discolors my teeth, creates that offensive breath condition a new tablet seeks to remedy, drops ash all over the room, burns holes in my coat, shirt, trousers and pocketbook, gives me a dark brown taste by mid-morning, and reduces me to the gibbering incompetency of a narcotic addict suffering withdrawal symptoms when my supply runs out. Milady Nicotine has kicked me around for the last 25 years. But the old gal's looking a little haggish today. It's time to give her the cold shoulder. A man ought to assert himself.

STILL, IF I QUIT smoking, the government's going to lose revenue. These taxes are as they are because my country has decided to increase and improve its defenses. Every cigarette I roll and smoke will add just a little more to the funds needed for the security of Canada. As a Canadian I shouldn't cut down. Then, too, there's the matter of those two cartons of Tip Top papers. And anyhow, who am I to put my health before patriotism? Mr. Abbott has shown me the clear course of duty. He's a little late, though, saying "No, No" to the new washing machine. That's installed now—almost all ours, too. And a rattling good source of home entertainment it is, if you haven't got television. These new machines virtually make washing a pleasure. A man can find satisfaction merely by moving his easy chair to the laundry and appreciating the joy on his wife's face as she sits on a kitchen chair—she being the working type not entitled to a sleepy hollow—and listens to the thrashing of the water.

IT'S A SIMPLE, if vicarious pleasure for a man, and a change, too, just putting an easy chair in the laundry to enjoy the enjoyment of his wife in the new gadget. The light isn't too good in that cubby hole, but a guy can pore over his newspaper and read more about the budget, shouting sage remarks about the whir of the washer to his partner. He can remind her that Mr. Abbott isn't giving us guns for butter. Butter went out when margarine came in.

Yes, he'll say with an air of wisdom, it's time we got back to the simplicities. Which is the philosophical way of looking at things. He's forced into the simplicities whether he likes it or not. He can figure that dream of a new car purely as a dream. It bears no relationship to reality. The old wagon will have to do. He'll find a new appreciation of the family car. He'll baby his aches and pains, kidding it and himself that old jalopy will hold together for years yet.

HE'LL MAKE A point of the occasions he, the family and the car have shared. A little sentimentality will drown his disappointment over his inability to finance a new model under the new taxes.

That's what Mr. Abbott would want him to do, and Mr. Abbott has a compelling way of making his wishes felt.

Then he'll go back to contemplation of the higher tax on tobacco and see it not as a barrier between himself and the weed he wants to quit, but as a means of contributing more to Canada. That'll take quite a lot of adjustment, but he'll manage it if he perseveres, and soon he'll be making his own smoke of battle against inflation.

LITTLE RAIN FOR 27 DAYS

Victoria has gone 27 days without any appreciable amount of rain, and the weatherman sees no immediate prospect of any change. The last time it rained here in any worthwhile quantity was March 15. When just over a third of an inch was recorded. Four one-hundredths of an inch of rain fell on both March 21 and 25 and there was one on-thousandths of an inch on the 28th but that was not even enough to lay the dust.

Hibberson Is Eliminated In Golf Event

Eric Hibberson, defending champion, was knocked out of the Sir Edward Beatty handicap in the Empress Hotel golf tournament today. One of two Victorians to make the quarterfinals of the major event in the five-day competition, Hibberson bowed out 2 and 1 to 15-handicapper C. B. Francis of Seattle.

R. L. Borst of Portland joined Francis in the semifinals, thumping H. L. Onstad of Seattle, 5 and 4. Vic Painter, the second Victorian in the quarterfinals, was carried to the 20th hole by H. L. Powers of Portland. Both men got birdie 4's on the 19th, Powers on a 20-foot putt, and Painter on a 15-footer for the half.

Painter then went on to win with a par three on the second extra hole.

The fourth match went to Dr. B. L. Titus of Portland, who downed A. D. Davis of Calgary, 2 and 1.

In tomorrow's semifinals one match will be an all-Rose City affair with Dr. Titus meeting R. L. Borst.

The other half will see Victoria's Vic Painter meet C. B. Francis.

Eric Hibberson of Victoria won the Sir Edward Beatty trophy last year in a final with Dr. Larry Schueler of Port Angeles. Dr. Schueler was knocked out of handicap competition early in the 1951 tournament.

TOBACCO, CANDY PRICES HOLD

Retailers Helpless With No Word Of New Manufacturers' Scales

Many tobacconists in Victoria today were still selling their products at the old prices.

The reason is that they do not know what to charge. They could put on an extra three cents on a package of cigarettes, but they might find that within a few hours the manufacturers have decided there is to be a raise of four or five cents. Both these figures have been quoted.

There is also the problem of what they should charge for the tins and packages of loose tobacco.

W. L. Woodhouse, head of a local wholesale distributor of tobacco and candies says that the official price list for tobacco and candies may be expected either tomorrow night or Saturday morning.

"It is up to the retailer to decide what he must do in the meantime," he said. "So far as we are concerned new stocks are frozen. We cannot secure replacement from Vancouver until the new price list is known." Walter Hitchcock of another distributing firm said that he too was awaiting official word, but that he felt justified in asking for at least the amount of the tax for any new orders to his retail customers.

Despite the lowering of the tax, Mr. Woodhouse says he does not expect a great reduction in the price of candies, chewing gum and chocolate bars.

City Action Blamed For Differential In Wages

A 21-cent differential in wages now existing between Vancouver and Victoria civic outside staffs, which in 1948 were "practically parallel" was blamed on "delays caused by city action," at the opening of a conciliation hearing today between the city and its outside staff.

Tom Gooderham, spokesman for the Civic Employees' Protective Association, No. 50, which states it is bargaining for about 260 men, contended the differential arose by:

"First, the attempt by the city to evade the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act and second, the city's court action on the award of the arbitration board."

Asking for increases approximating $30 a month per man, the union claimed "wages paid to the outside staff of the city have been substandard for several years."

"Since 1947 when there was parity in wages between the cities and up to Dec. 31, 1950, the Vancouver scale has increased from $66 to $114 per hour or 32.4 per cent whereas in Victoria it has only increased from $66 to $103 or less than 17 per cent."

Mr. Gooderham said. Cost of living index during the period increased by 37 per cent.

The amendment was piloted through the House by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, third Coalition member for Victoria.

KIEL, Germany (Reuters)—A British court yesterday sentenced 13 young Germans to two months' imprisonment for invading the North Sea island of Helgoland in March.

BRIGHT FUTURE FORECAST FOR TEA-GROWING INDUSTRY IN B.C.

Tea grown in B.C. has been placed on the market, it was revealed in the Legislature Wednesday night by Trade and Industry Minister Leslie Eyres who visualized great expansion of the industry in the province with vast stretches of denuded forest land being transformed to plantations.

Mr. Eyres announced during discussion of his departmental estimates that a company known as Canadian Tea Planters was producing tea near Milner in the Abbotsford area of the Fraser Valley from the leaves of a native bush.

His department had been investigating the industry the last three months and he was optimistic the growing of tea in B.C. had a great future.

Victoria Car Dealers Announce New Prices

New price lists of cars boosted by the 10 per cent raise in excise duty were received today by many Victoria auto dealers.

The increases will range from about $160 to $250, with even bigger advances in some of the special de luxe models.

Here are examples of Chrysler products: Plymouth de luxe club previously selling at $2,402 will market at $2,571.

Dodge Regent four-door raised from $2,586 to $2,769. De Sota, four-door sedan raised from $3,416 to $3,658.

Chrysler four-door sedan raised from $3,533 to $3,766.

The increased taxation on a standard Chevrolet will be $159.35 and on the Oldsmobile 88 it will be $223, it is announced by the local dealers in these makes.

English car distributors have still to receive word of their new prices. "We reckon their will range from about $120 to $160 extra," said one dealer.

SEEK SOME RELIEF

R. B. Wilson of Wilson Motors stated that the B.C. Car Dealers would renew their representations to the government to consider giving some relief to car purchasers in B.C.

"The added taxation together with the credit curb and our high freight charges, which are not suffered by other Canadian communities, make the present situation impossible," said Mr. Wilson. The government is 50 years behind the times if it looks upon the automobile as a luxury. In B.C. it is an essential."

Mr. Wilson considers that the solution is to apply a system of zoning which would allow B.C. some concessions either in prices or in lengthening the credit terms allowed for the purchase of new autos.

B.C.E. Workers To Accept New Wage Proposal

B.C. Electric office employees in Victoria and Vancouver Wednesday night voted their acceptance of a company offer of a 12 1/2 per cent wage boost to take effect in stages over a 20-month period.

The vote in favor of acceptance was 468 to 201. Victoria employees were more solidly behind the proposal than those in Vancouver.

About 1,250 workers are affected. Of this number, 165 are employed in the company's Victoria office.

The office workers will receive an immediate four per cent increase, dating back to April 1, and will get another six per cent boost on Nov. 1. A final 2 1/2 per cent jump will be made Nov. 1, 1952.

The first instalment of the agreement, which will run until November, 1953, will mean a boost of about $10 a month for women and $12 a month for men.

Prize-Winners Announced For Alpine Display

Vernon W. Ahler, 1233 Palmer Road, was the high aggregate prize winner in the annual two-day spring show of the Vancouver Island Rock and Alpine Garden Society, which concludes tonight at the Crystal Garden, it was announced today.

Second place was won by Alan B. Morkill, president of the society; J. H. Prichard was third, and R. H. Edgell fourth.

Mrs. E. H. Lohbrunner won first prize for both her miniature and novelty rock gardens.

J. G. Worth's rhododendron apanerant was judged best plant in the show, and K. Christiansen and E. H. Lohbrunner divided honors for having the rarest plant on display.

A feature of the show is a display of colorful tropical fish arranged by the Victoria Aquarium Society.

Clarification Requested By Union Speaker

Fears that they might wind up "guinea pigs in a test case" between the April 15 conciliation deadline and the Municipal Act were expressed today by Tom Gooderham, spokesman for the Civic Employees' Protective Association, No. 50, at the outset of a conciliation hearing between the city and its outside staff.

"We would like clarification on how we stand," Mr. Gooderham told the board.

Herbert W. Davey, K.C., the city's nominee, asked Mr. Gooderham if he feared that by the time the award was down it would be after April 15 and the city might have set its budget and state it had not funds for the award.

The union spokesman replied in the affirmative. Mr. Davey said he could not give a "considered opinion" on the point at the moment. Percy Gomery, board chairman, asked City Manager Cecil C. Wyatt to have City Solicitor Arthur Patton appear later and give his legal opinion.

Mr. Gomery felt that since the hearing was a conciliation and not an arbitration, the report did not have to be filed by April 15.

Turn On The Lamp, Sam—
But Not In Mabel's Face!

By PENNY SAVER

"Penny, my little gardenia," says friend Mabel when she phoned this morning, "I got troubles. When you got troubles you phone me, this time I got troubles, so I phone you."

I've got news for Mabel—only time I have troubles is when Mabel phones!

"I'll get down to the miserable facts," she says. "First of all, my Sam likes to read his rough 'em up stories in bed. This is fine with me... if the bed was under the light of day 'til after his charmin' mornin' repast is set before him!"

"So," says I. "So," says she. "I want you should find me a lamp with a kind personality toward them what suffers with reclining story book readers."

Well, it just soooo happens, I did see some lamps this very day... and just the answer to my loving friend's plight.

There is a clamper-onner type, long-stemmed single, or twin. That first little number is made as handsomely as any lamp I've seen, and with steady clamp to hold it firmly atop the bedstead. The lamp shade of metal with soft felt exterior directs its rays to the pages of your book and nowhere else. In ivory, pastel green, pink or peach. $7.50.

This little lamp's taller sisters are meant for bedside tables, office desks or desk at home. They work on the same principle but with addition of long coil necks.

The swan-like necks can be twisted or bent into any shape or form. Their work is to accommodate you, with no holds barred. With push-button affairs to turn the spotlight on and off, the single lamp, in green, brown or wine, $10.95, and its twin sisters, $18.50 the set.

Thank you, and good afternoon, friend Mabel.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

At Dinner Party, Man Dazzled By Woman
Seeks Explanation Of Experience

Dear Mary Haworth: I have no problem, but rather a profound perplexity about a baffling experience of overwhelming intensity. The scene is the dining room of a great hotel. It is late evening as we go in to dine. There are seven in the party—the host, myself (we are old friends) and five others whom I had just met that evening: a young married couple and three young ladies, all of us past 25 years of age.

At first we seated ourselves at random; then our host (a priest) suggested that the young husband and I exchange seats—for no earthly reason that we could see; but we complied, like soldiers blindly obeying an officer's senseless order. This put me directly opposite a quiet, genteel girl whom I had scarcely noticed before. We fell into prosaic conversation, chatting about academic matters, including the changes that words in our language have undergone. As we talked, I looked into her eyes, a habit stemming from my mother's instructions when I set off to college. She said it was a mark of respect in speaking to anyone, and that a gentleman's gaze doesn't stray or take inventory of a woman's person when talking to her.

As I talked with this girl—I'll call her Diane—it dawned on me that I was looking into the most incomparably beautiful eyes I'd ever seen. Then the bewildering experience overtook me. I was aware that blindness had struck me. The others at table seemed to dim out. Diane, too, seemed to dim out, except for her eyes. Into her eyes my vision seemed to be focussed and lost.

HE SAW KINDLINESS,
A RARE PHENOMENON

Dear G. P.: I have discussed your experience with a medically trained authority on human behavior, who thinks the dim-out during dinner refers to momentary respite from chronic emotional insecurity. He conjectures, "It was the experience of an isolated person who feels momentarily accepted—in communication with a sympathetic, attentive fellow being."

The specialist remarks that your necessity to write to me, for lack of a nearer confidante, indicates that you are a lonely person; consequently the comfort of Diane's quiet congeniality, experienced in the wake of a jolt to your ego, virtually entranced you with yearning towards her—and made you dizzily oblivious to your surroundings until she said "Goodbye."

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

List Health, Beauty Rules
You Neglect—Then Reform

Today, when you have a little time to think, make a list of the things you habitually neglect to do, things which would detract years from your appearance and add zest to your health.

There are certain rules which apply to everyone but each individual varies according to his own peculiarities. You know yourself better than anyone else does. You know it if certain foods seem to disagree with you, if certain other things may make you break out in a rash. You know how many hours sleep you need each night in order to feel your very best. Some persons require much more than others.

Many small neglects nicker at us day after day and gradually undermine our attractiveness and our pep. The one item of sleep makes all the difference between feeling young or old, tired of full of zest. It even affects our skin tone and the lines or circles around our eyes. Yet many women abuse themselves in this way.

The habit of reading late at night, while wonderfully pleasant, is bad if you cannot sleep late the next morning. Discover for yourself the best hours and the number of hours for you individually and see that, as a habit, you conform to your own ruling.

In your schedule include some outdoor exercise and sunshine. Make this a must.

Include menus which will build health rather than fatty deposits and make this the regular rule. If you have defects which can be remedied, such as moles or irregular teeth which make you unhappy, have them taken care of.

Adopt the type skin care which is best for your individual epidermis and do it every single day.

See your doctor for regular

Adopt a daily skin care routine.

checkups and visit your dentist regularly.

Make good grooming a part of your regular every day life.

If a woman neglects herself in these small ways she cannot expect to blossom out suddenly for that special occasion in a glamorous way. You can no more put on beauty suddenly than you can put good manners on whenever you wish to and forget them in the meantime. These attributes must be a part of our daily lives or they are awkward and strained and unreal.

A nut pick can be a handy piece of sewing equipment. The blunt end can be used as an aid in turning belts, and the pick end to pull out the corners after the belt is turned, or for pulling out basting threads.

Rev. J. H. Turvey united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Anderson, 69 Duncan Street, New Westminster, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harper, 488 Admirals Road.

attendants carried bouquets of harmonizing spring flowers, and wore flower bandeaus in their hair.

Dentists blame refined sugar as one of the causes, according to Dr. Southby's report. Every year—Australians eat 131 pounds of sugar per capita, of which half goes into production of candies, cakes, biscuits, jam, condensed milk and other sweetened food.

Art Teacher Urges Developing Talent

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Peter Douet, Montreal artist, says too many people are content to sit back and watch instead of developing their own talents.

She told a women's group here that nearly everyone has some creative talent. It perhaps only needs to be stirred up a bit. Mrs. Douet, who teaches art with her husband, said the association for physical and health education and recreation has found "spectatoritis" on the increase and this is not good.

An example, says Mrs. Douet, is one business man who attended a few of her art classes. He told her he never realized how much pleasure and relaxation there was in painting. And painting is one thing that just about everyone can do, she says.

They don't have to be master painters. They can get plenty of satisfaction daubing away at a canvas with their own creations.

High Or Low Ovens Subject Of Warm Debate

Do you prefer a stove with a high oven to the low ones that manufacturers now are putting on the market? It would seem most women do.

The Canadian Association of Consumers has a survey under way to determine family preference on this matter. It grew out of complaints from several housewives that they are unable to buy any "high oven" stoves. Members still are flooding C.A.C. headquarters with their views, and so far most of them favor the high ovens.

Suggestions from Canadian housewives soon may be cutting kitchen capers in the industrial design committee of the National Gallery.

At the suggestion of this committee the C.A.C. asked its 13,000 members for ideas on improved design for household articles, and they're getting plenty.

One housewife asked for "an egg-beater that doesn't fall out of the bowl." Another suggested "plastic lamp shades without cotton trimming" in order that all parts of the shade may be washed.

Luscious ripe pears make wonderful salads. They are good served "as is" with a tart French dressing or they are even better when topped with grated cheese or silvered roasted almonds. Mayonnaise, thinned with lemon juice, is a good dressing when cheese or almonds are used.

A Bride From England

Bridal beauty is reflected in this pose of the former Constance Mary Hammond, who until three years ago made her home in Buckinghamshire, England, and recently became the bride of George Barker Harris, R.C.N., in Metropolitan United Church. Dr. Anderson, formerly with the R.C.N., entered McGill University at the end of the war to complete medical training. He is at present interning at Royal Jubilee Hospital. Since returning to Victoria the Andersons have been living with Mrs. Anderson's parents, Capt. and Mrs. D. J. Proudfoot, Despard Avenue. Mrs. Proudfoot is pictured here with her daughter.

Contrasting charmingly with a red velvet evening gown was a model's dark hair complemented with a dusting of green flecked with gold.

Another model displayed the beauty of red tints in her fair hair, while auburn lights gave special lustre to a brunette's hair.

For daytime stylings, the new chignon modes for short hair were most popular.

Reports Brighten Picture For Oil

By HARRY YOUNG, Times Business Editor.

Results of an encouraging nature to Canadian oil industry are reported today by British-American Oil Company Ltd. Profits have risen to over $10,000,000—an increase of 33 per cent over the previous fiscal year.

B-A is one of the leading Canadian-owned oil groups. It has its headquarters in Toronto and prides itself in having 21,649 shareholders of whom 96 per cent are Canadians. These shareholders in turn hold 79 per cent of the common stock.

While B-A has subsidiaries on the U.S. side of the border its chief interests are in Canada, and a breakdown of the net profit shows that operations in Canada were responsible for $6,523,571 of the company's 1950 earnings while only $3,966,404 came from operations in the United States.

The highlight of the year as seen by B-A's president William K. Whiteford was the discovery of what appears to be a major gas reserve in the Peace River area of Alberta. He says that in addition to the gas, oil production was obtained in the Permian-Pennsylvanian formation hitherto unproductive in Western Canada.

The company also points with pride to the fact that its new refinery at Edmonton which incorporates the first catalytic cracking plant in the prairie provinces will be in operation in June.

The company, goes on Mr. Whiteford bought more crude oil from independent Alberta producers than any other company, providing a market for the production of more than 300 wells.

The earnings for 1950 represent $2.31 per common share, which currently is trading at around $32.

Other impressive figures announced today of Canada's rapidly expanding oil industry are by Imperial Oil, whose activities have done perhaps more than any other to develop and find a market for Canadian oil.

Imperial reports a record profit of $30,460,000, an increase of over $5,000,000 from the previous year. In 1950 the company produced almost 13 million of the 27 million barrels of crude taken from the Alberta field.

One of Canada's chief oil aims is to make itself self-supporting, and Imperial with its eight refineries and its distribution program is going a long way to achieving that ideal.

One of the important factors in this program is the Inter Provincial pipeline which takes western oil to the Lakehead at Superior, where Imperial with the world's two largest inland water tankers is ready to start the transportation of crude to its headquarter refinery plant at Sarnia, Ont.

Imperial may rightly think that this transportation scheme was the most important step taken for the Canadian oil industry in 1950.

Unlike B-A, the bulk of the Imperial Oil Co. shares are held in the United States. Standard Oil of New Jersey hold approximately 70 per cent of the Imperial stock.

Earnings per share on this year's profit are $1.22 against 92 cents in 1949. The shares trade around $38.

The Victoria real estate market is regarded as being in a healthy condition by city realtor Philip Holmes. He considers that the supply of houses is in just about the ideal proportion to the demand.

He also notes that there are more houses appearing for rental, probably because people are now purchasing houses and keeping them as an investment against inflation.

According to Mr. Holmes, it is not too difficult to rent a modern bungalow in a good residential district around $60-$70 a month.

Bond Issue To Pay For B.C. Merger

The annual meeting of Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd., approved the proposed three-for-one split in the common shares, and the creation of an additional 2,278,918 common shares. The meeting also approved cancellation of redeemed preference shares.

D. W. Ambridge, president, told the meeting that Abitibi will need to raise $6,500,000 from the public in connection with the acquisition of its interest in British Columbia Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd., and the Koerner companies.

He said it is planned that B.C. pulp will issue $15,000,000 in bonds, of which $6,500,000 would be used to pay off present senior securities and the remainder to purchase the Koerner companies.

Higher Prices For Woolens Feared

WASHINGTON — The U.S. government yesterday issued a new price regulation for wool yarns and fabrics, and officials predicted it would bring higher prices for wool garments next fall.

The order, issued by the office of price stabilization, directs manufacturers to establish new ceiling prices based on their pre-Korean selling prices from March 24-June 24, 1950. To these prices they will add increased material and labor costs between the outbreak of the Korean war and Dec. 31, 1950.

Wool prices have been frozen under the general ceiling price regulation of Jan. 26. The new price order is effective Monday.

Mascots Merge

VANCOUVER (CP)—Merger plans involving three British Columbia metal mining companies were announced yesterday.

Announcement was made by B. H. Gunning, managing director of Hedley Mascot Gold Mines Ltd., and Giant Mascot Mines Ltd., and W. R. Wheeler, president of Silver Giant Mines Ltd.

The new firm will be known as Giant Mascot Mines Ltd. A shareholders' meeting will be held shortly to detail plans of the move.

Death In The Fog

A charred tail assembly juts out against the sky as flames consume an air force C-47 transport plane that crashed in a fog near Charleston, W. Va., killing 19 persons. Two others were critically injured. Plane was carrying a funeral escort for an air force crash victim.

B.C. Tugs Chug Steadily On With Impotent Role

B.C. harbor tugs play a vital part in keeping the machinery of industry moving, chugging up and down the waterfront 24 hours a day.

Some are powerful sea-going vessels; others are just "little toots." Many of them are small and squat, while some are streamlined and even stately in appearance.

But they're all essential, whether they operate within the harbor confines or range for out to sea on various missions. Without them no logs would be moved from camp to mill, there would be no help for deep-sea ships in need of a tow at sea, no sand and gravel would be shifted from pits and quarries to construction sites.

The British Columbia Tugboat Owners Association says there are 265 tugs in the province, most of them equipped with radio telephone and some of them ranging up to 1,800 horsepower.

More than 200 are fitted with diesel engines while others rely on steam. The latter, good workers in their day, still do a man-sized job.

BIG ASSETS

The 52 operators in the tugboat industry own equipment valued at more than $17,000,000. More than 2,000 men in the tugboat fleets have an annual payroll in excess of $5,000,000.

A report just released gives an idea of the work they accomplish in a year: 1,250,000 tons of sand and gravel moved by scow; 175,000 tons of cement; 300,000 tons of coal; 216,000 tons of pulp and paper; 150,000 tons of rock; 300,000 tons of lime; 750,000 tons of sawdust and pulp chips; 500,000 tons of oil and petroleum products; and the big item, logs, well in excess of three billion board feet.

In addition, the tugs moved more than 2,000,000 tons of general cargo.

These are the undramatic records of a vital industry which generally comes to public notice only by a gruelling mercy mission or a tussle with the elements on the broad Pacific. The little ships are hard workers.

One of the earliest French forts in America, Fort Pentagot was built at Castine, Maine, in 1613.

Canadian Trade Officials See Little Hope Of I.T.O. Success

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's great hope of the world creating a flourishing International Trade Organization is dwindling. Officials say they now see little chance of the Havana Charter — the instrument by which the hope might have been realized — being ratified by world trading nations.

Discouraged by the twist in international events, they are placing more and more importance on the smaller victory, the Geneva Tariff Agreement, as being the next best thing to the hoped-for I.T.O.

Now, in Torquay, Eng., that Geneva Agreement, formally known as the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, has run into a raft of trouble.

Britain and the United States have failed to reach agreement on a new round of tariff negotiations. This disagreement involving British tariff preference, is expected to fan out to encompass some of the U.S. negotiations with Canada.

The Havana Charter, if ratified, would have committed some 54 signing nations to a policy of non-discrimination in their customs charges and their general internal trade taxation and regulation policy.

Preliminary agreement was reached three years ago at a Havana conference of the members of the Geneva agreement, signed the previous year in Switzerland.

Since then Canada has been waiting for nations to make final ratification. Particularly, Canada was watching the United States to take the lead. So were other nations.

Congress still has not given full consideration to the matter, and both the trade and external affairs departments see no sign that it intends to do so in the near future.

There is "increasing possibility," says the external affairs department in its annual report, "that I.T.O. will not be established." The general agreement on tariffs and trade assumes "a new importance."

Trade officials pointed out that though the Geneva agreement does not go as far as the Havana Charter, it provides a strong emphasis on multilateral trade which is Canada's basic trade policy.

It provides for a general policy of non-discrimination in world trade, but it does not emphasize the need for full employment and economic activity, two strong points of the Havana charter.

LEATHERHEAD LAUGHS LAST

Good-Natured Rivalry Centres About Canadian-Built Bridge

LEATHERHEAD, Surrey, Eng. (CP) — Englishmen who live near here jokingly say they have the last laugh now on the Canadian soldiers who built a temporary bridge along the Leatherhead by-pass.

The bridge and a carriageway were built early in the Second World War by a company of the Royal Canadian Engineers. A London newspaper praised the Canadians, saying they had done in about three months what British workers would have done in two years. The story became a standard joke in this area.

Now Leatherhead has the last laugh — one of the bridge's spans has collapsed. Floods this winter piled tree trunks against one abutment, causing it to fall.

But British engineers say there isn't any cause for Anglo-Canadian rivalry. In the first place, the bridge was really a joint effort between the Canadians and Surrey council. In the second place, it was intended to last for only a limited period.

Rivalry or no rivalry, Leatherhead has a permanent reminder of the Canadian troops. The road near the bridge is called

"Young Street," in honor of a Canadian major of that name, and there is a plaque giving details of the construction.

DOCTOR SAYS

By Dr. Edwin P. Jordan

No one who has had an attack of acute pleurisy ever forgets it. Although it is not as painful as kidney stones or some other things, pleurisy is a most unpleasant experience and often lasts for quite a long time, too.

This disorder gets its name from the delicate membrane which surrounds the lungs called the pleura. If the pleura becomes inflamed, which may be the result of infection or for no apparent cause, there is pain felt in the chest. Also, there is usually a sharp dry cough which the victim dreads because it makes the pain worse. Even ordinary breathing or any other motion of the chest is likely to bring on sharp pain.

An attack of pleurisy is apt to begin after exposure to excessive cold though it may come on at any time. It is sometimes only one sign of some other disease of the lungs such as pneumonia. Even if the pain is more or less bearable it isn't smart to pretend to be big and strong and ignore the whole thing. Rest in bed as soon as possible is not only a lot more comfortable but a lot safer. And it is wise, too, to get an X-ray and other diagnostic tests before too long.

CHRONIC STAGE

The severe pain of acute pleurisy is not likely to last long under proper rest and treatment, but unfortunately pleurisy often has a tendency to become chronic. This can go on and on with a good deal of discomfort and interference with normal life.

Furthermore, fluid sometimes gathers in the space between the pleura and the lungs. This may or may not be absorbed in time and sometimes it has to be removed with a needle.

One good thing about pleurisy is that because it is usually infectious (but not catching), it sometimes yields to the new germ killers.

Fourth Division Marked For 'Ike'

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department announced today that the fourth infantry division has been ordered to Europe for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Atlantic Pact army.

The announcement did not say when the division would leave, but a spokesman estimated it would be in about 30 days.

The Fourth Division, which has been in training at Fort Benning, Ga., will be the third U.S. division contributed to the Pact army. The first infantry and the armored constabulary already are in Germany.

Big Power Dam Proposed To Give Boost To Egypt

LONDON (UP)—Adrien Daninos, Egyptian agricultural engineer, has plans for a $100,000,000 irrigation and power project in the Nile Valley.

He thinks it would double Egypt's agricultural acreage and block the spread of Communism in the Middle East by assuring every family a small holding of at least three acres.

Daninos said he had come to London in connection with his project for the "total utilization of the Nile waters."

"I have a report drawn up by an international commission of experts of world repute," he said.

SEES VAST CAPACITY

"The report shows that it is possible to construct a new dam at the Aswan site on the River Nile, create a reservoir within Egyptian territory with a capacity of 1,650,000,000 cubic meters and a power station developing 1,300,000,000 kilowatt-hours per year. The experts estimate the work could be completed in five years."

Daninos carried a copious file of reports on the new Aswan project with letters from the various United Nations special agencies approving the scheme. He said he believed his was the only plan which could save Egypt from destructive poverty and make the country "a sure bulwark against false ideologies."

"The democracies are spending billions on armaments," he said. "It would require only $100,000,000 to construct this project. It would assure every family in Egypt, without in any way touching existing estates, the ownership of not more than three acres complete with a house."

MORE EMPLOYMENT

"In addition it would provide employment for all the engineers and other technicians in the country at higher wages for many years to come as well as work for the large mass of unemployed."

"I have surveyed the area and our experts report it is possible to create a reservoir with five times the capacity of Lake Mead behind Boulder Dam on the Colorado River in America."

Complete Plans For New Island Hospital

GANGES—Construction of a new Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital will begin as soon as possible, it was reported at the annual meeting of the hospital board.

A new site has been surveyed, a road built, and well sunk to serve the new building.

A profit of $1,602 on last year's operations was announced. Total of patients treated increased by 84 in the year.

Improvements to the old hospital during the year included a new heating unit, sanding of floors, redecorating the nurses' residence, laying a new pipeline, and use of new medical equipment.

$100 Fine For Taking Car Without Consent

CHEMUNUS—James A. McIvory, 22, was fined $100 following his conviction on a charge of taking a car without the owner's consent. Arrest was made by L. Dolter and R. G. Foreman of the R.C.M.P.

Visit Brings Two Dominions Closer

SYDNEY (Reuters)—Visit of H.M.C.S. Ontario for the Australian jubilee celebrations had made the geographical distance between Canada and Australia insignificant, Cmdr. Vernon W. Howland, the Ontario's supply officer, told a luncheon today.

"We often find ourselves interpreting the United States to the Commonwealth and the Commonwealth to the United States," he added.

The ballot was introduced in British North America in 1856 when New Brunswick used it for municipal elections.

British Doctor Asks Ban Of Bread Bleach

HULL, Eng. (CP)—A drive for an official ban against the sale of bread made from "ageneised" flour has been launched by Dr. John Coghlan, a Hull practitioner.

Thousands, he says, have died as the result of eating the chemically treated bread, while the health of thousands more is menaced. He has appealed for six human "guinea pigs" to help him prove that his warning is well-founded.

Ageneisation, in which flour is mixed with nitrogen trichloride to give a whiter and larger loaf, has been a general practice in Britain for more than 25 years. Discontinuance of the process was recommended last year by a joint committee of the ministries of health and food. At the time, however, it was declared that ageneisation had no harmful effects on human beings.

Victoria Daily Times WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1951 25

SAME AS HEROIN

Dr. Coghlan disagrees. Agene, he says, is poisonous and has the same effect on the heart and brain as heroin. A two-pound loaf of bread, he claims, contains about 25 milligrams of agene, while tests had proved that two milligrams, the amount of three ounces of bread, is sufficient to kill a ferret. "Experimenting with human guinea pigs I could show in a week, unknown to themselves they have become drug addicts through consuming agene," Dr. Coghlan said.

A spokesman for the ministry of health said use of agene-treated flour would continue until chemists have found a satisfactory substitute.

"Although we decided against ageneised flour, there has never been any reason to fear its effects on the public," he added. "There has been no reason why a decision on agene-treated flour should be made in haste."

SPRINGTIME IS SARNAK TIME

after a long Winter your resistance is low, old troublesome symptoms are apt to bother you

Rheumatic, arthritic, neuritic pains, sciatica, backache, bilious dizzy spells, some kidney and liver and stomach upsets, indigestion, heartburn, bloating, getting up nights, lack of energy, nutritional anemia and nervousness and sleeplessness due to these symptoms.

READ BELOW WHAT SARNAK IS DOING FOR OTHERS

Mrs. Phil Annweiler, 225 Avenue E. South Saskatoon, Sask., writes — "For the last fifteen years I have suffered greatly with Rheumatic pain and pain rising from a Gall Bladder condition. Although I have taken many forms of analgesic, nothing I took seemed to help me. Just recently I read about Sarnak and bought my first bottle. I am thankful to say that Sarnak has been a great help to me right from the very first. It relieves my pain as nothing else I have taken."

Mrs. George Weston, Selkirk, Man., writes — "I must thank you for what Sarnak has done for me. I am now starting my fifth bottle. I have suffered with the pain of Varicose Veins for a long time and Sarnak certainly has relieved my pain. The pain was so bad that I was unable to do my housework, but since taking Sarnak I am able to get about as usual."

Mr. M. R. Sereda of Beaverdale, Saskatchewan, writes — "For quite some time I suffered with Neuritic and Arthritic pains in my left leg and shoulder. I couldn't move my leg or walk during my last attack for the pain. I started taking Sarnak and after my first bottle the pain was relieved and I can now get around and do some work. I am going to continue with Sarnak for I know it will benefit me."

Mr. Gustav Roemer, 138 Ahrens St. W. Kitchener, Ontario, is over 70 years of age and is an engineer who suffered on and off for 16 long years with upset stomach, bilious dizzy spells and indigestion. Mr. Roemer started taking SARNAK and wrote us as follows: "SARNAK brought me relief within a few days. My poor health had made me nervous and almost afraid to eat. I can truly say now that SARNAK relieved my stomach upset and nervousness. I'm grateful for what SARNAK has done for me."

Mrs. F. Plouffe, Point St. Charles, Montreal, Quebec, is 69 years of age and had suffered with rheumatic pain in the knees and sharp pain in the small of the back. After Mrs. Plouffe had used just one bottle of SARNAK she wrote: "I was in such pain I could hardly do my work and had trouble getting my proper rest. The first bottle of SARNAK relieved my pain; allowed me to do my housework. I don't know how to thank you for what SARNAK has done for me."

Mr. Stanley P. Dexter, Deep Cove, B.C., is a retired locomotive engineer and 64 years of age. Mr. Dexter had suffered from arthritic pain in both knees and his left hip for seven years until he started to take SARNAK, but here's what Mr. Dexter says: "I tried many different kinds of medicine to relieve my pain but nothing helped until I started taking SARNAK. I got relief from the first day with SARNAK and continued taking it because of the good it did me."

Mrs. C. E. Lyons, Burdett, Alberta, is now 74 years of age and has enjoyed good health, but a few months ago Mrs. Lyons started to suffer from rheumatic and arthritic pain in her knees and legs. Mrs. Lyons tried several things but nothing helped. Here is what she wrote after taking SARNAK: "After taking SARNAK for two months, I am free of stabbing arthritic pain. Right from the first two or three doses SARNAK helped me. Now of course I wouldn't be without it."

WARNING—Due to the fact we are committed to ship over 100,000 bottles of Sarnak per week to Western Canada, we ask that you only buy one bottle of Sarnak at a time when needed.

MACARTHUR OR CORREGIDOR?

MANILA (AP)—Change the name of Corregidor Island to MacArthur Island? Three members of the Philippine Congress introduced a bill Wednesday night to re-name the Island in Manila Bay where MacArthur had his headquarters during the defence of Bataan in 1942.

Safety Board For Industry Recommended

Labor Minister Cates said in the Legislature Wednesday night he will welcome suggestions and recommendations from labor groups interested in improving industrial safety.

The minister was replying to Opposition Leader Harold Winch who thought the government should set up some kind of a committee or board to co-ordinate programs for precautions against injury in industry.

"We should have a more active and co-ordinated policy on accident prevention," the C.C.F. leader said.

Mr. Cates said he was keenly interested in safety work and would take the board appointment suggestion under advisement.

Meanwhile, the number of industrial accidents in the province are decreasing, he said. There were 200 fatal accidents in industry 10 years ago, but last year, with two-and-a-half times the number of industrial plants in operation, there were only 205 fatalities.

Vancouver Union Boss In Britain For P.C. Appeal

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP)—Big Bill White, boss of a Vancouver Union, arrived here today after a 6,000-mile flight in search of an answer to a problem he says has cost the union $60,000 in seven years.

Bill wants to know whether his union—the Marine Workers and Boiler Makers Industrial Union—has the right to expel a member. Two Canadian lawyers came with him to put the case before the Privy Council starting April 23.

Seven years ago the union dismissed one of its members. Since then there have been hearings and appeals, with the law favoring first one side and then the other. White once was placed in jail, and if the Privy Council decides against the union, he said he may have to go back.

"The boys in the union don't seem to want this man back," he told reporters at Prestwick airport. "So what are we going to do if ordered to readmit him?"

Health Plan Rejected, Eire Minister Quits

DUBLIN (Reuters)—Health Minister Noel Browne resigned last night from Premier John Costello's government because it would not approve a free health service scheme he had sponsored. Browne had drafted a scheme to give free medical aid to all mothers and to children up to 16, but his cabinet colleagues countered with a request that he should draft a scheme based on a test determining patients' ability to pay.

Costello said he would take over the health ministry temporarily.

Warns Russia Able To Sow Big Minefields

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain in a future war would have to face a big sea-mining campaign, Viscount Hall, First Lord of the Admiralty, said last night. He told the House of Lords in a debate on naval affairs that the Russian navy is powerfully equipped for mining both by sea and air.

New Plan Advanced For Government Advertising

All government advertising may be channeled through the Department of Trade and Industry to eliminate duplication. The Legislature's standing committee on public accounts took the matter under advisement Wednesday when the question was raised by Opposition Leader Harold Winch who thought some saving in advertising might be made.

E. G. Rowbottom, deputy minister of trade and industry who said the advertising account now ran to $130,000, gave assurance every effort was made to eliminate duplication. It was difficult to check, though, and as far as that went, duplication in some instances was advisable.

He had in mind fire prevention and tourist promotion advertising.

Mr. Rowbottom expressed the view the government could well be spending much more on advertising.

Arthur Ash (Chn.-Saaneich), questioned the deputy minister on the practice of placing advertising in small publications—sports programs, club bulletins and the like.

He could not see any great value, and thought money could be saved.

Mr. Rowbottom disagreed. He said the advertisements in the minor publications were reaching the people, selling them on the "see B.C. first" promotion.

Second Round Of Speaking Contest

The second round of the annual Gavel public speaking contest was held last night at City Hall, council chamber.

There were seven contestants. The three winners of this round were: G. Hobson, whose subject was "Unborn Tomorrow"; Thomas G. Wilson, "As ye sow, so shall ye reap"; and S. Snobelen, on "Better B.C. Homes."

The third round will be held at the City Hall on Monday, and the finals will be held at the same place on Wednesday, April 25. All the nine winners will be required to speak on different subjects from those which they spoke on in the preliminary rounds.

PORT ALBERTNI—Although City Council is taking action against Mayor Loran K. Jordan for alleged contraventions of the Municipal Act, William C. Carr, former city storekeeper, has also had a writ issued against the mayor on his behalf. It was revealed last Wednesday.

The Supreme Court judge will probably decide which of the two suits facing Mayor Jordan will be given precedence, or whether they will be consolidated, it was announced today.

Gordon M. Campbell, city solicitor, said he felt the city case may have precedence since the corporation represents the largest number of taxpayers.

Pope Approves Plans For Visit

ROME (Reuters)—The Pope Pope Wednesday approved an intricate ceremonial to receive Princess Elizabeth, sixth member of the British Royal Family to visit the Pope since King Edward VIII broke with the Vatican four centuries ago.

The Princess, who arrived Wednesday by air from Malta for a two-week private visit, will meet the Pope alone in his library Friday morning. Later she will present her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and her suite.

King Edward VII, first to break with tradition since the English reformation, was received by Pope Leo XIII in 1903. The royal couple flew from Malta in a Viking of the King's flight. A guard of honor of Carabinieri in full-dress uniform stood by at Rome airport as they were received by the British Ambassador, Sir Victor Mallet, and Lady Mallet, their hosts during their stay.

Minnesota, Mississippi Flood Crests Approach

Warnings Posted As Tributaries Of Both Rivers Overflow Banks; 3 Highway Deaths

By UNITED PRESS.

The surging Minnesota River was expected to pour its flood crest into the rapidly-rising Mississippi today, as flood warnings were posted along the upper Mississippi Valley.

Weathermen said the Mississippi would reach flood crest tomorrow between St. Paul and Hastings, Minn., 20 miles downstream.

Forecasters have predicted the worst Mississippi flood in 10 years in Iowa, Wisconsin and southern Minnesota.

Other Mississippi tributaries were pouring over their banks in Wisconsin. The Chippewa River was expected to flood roads from Durand, Wis., to Red Wing, Minn., today. Dikes were holding back the rising Wisconsin River at Portage, Wis., however.

Light rain and snow fell over much of the flood-stricken area today, but weathermen said it had only a slight effect.

The weather caused three deaths near Onawa, Ia., when a car skidded into a truck on a snow-packed highway. The dead were Walter Ewert, 37, assistant professor of journalism at Kansas University, his wife Louise, 35, and a daughter, 4.

Chaska, Minn., was the hardest

Gillies Receives 7-Year Term

Sentences of seven years and five years in the penitentiary to run concurrently were meted out by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane in Assize Court today to Clyde Gillies, 42-year-old Victoria salesman who pleaded guilty to charges of theft and fraud.

Percy Walls, 65-year-old former lawyer, convicted by an Assize jury Wednesday of defrauding A. Scott of Victoria of $9,000, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary to run concurrently with his present prison term which he is serving for breach of trust. He was convicted on the latter charge two years ago.

EXPECTS NO MERCY

Gillies, who was asked by His Lordship if he had anything to say before sentence was passed upon him, said he was "deeply aware of the enormity of my offence."

"In view of what I have done I cannot ask God or this court to show me any mercy," he said.

Gillies then asked the court to show mercy to his former business partner, Walls. The two men worked hand in hand in defrauding Scott of his money.

Walls, who stood in the prisoner's box beside Gillies, reiterated that he did not think he was morally guilty of the charge.

"I think you are," replied His Lordship. "You are a mature man and a lawyer and you must have known what you were doing."

MAIN OFFENDER

His Lordship said, however, that he believed Gillies to be the principal offender.

The sentencing of the two brought to an end one of the biggest swindling cases heard in Victoria for years. Gillies admitted in court of defrauding many people of money totaling over $150,000.

The two men who were escorted to Assize Court by R.C.M.P. ran into the courthouse when they saw a Victoria Times photographer aiming a camera at them.

Gillies won the race. He pushed Walls aside and made a dash for the open front door. Walls staggered in after him.

Record Battle Of Jets

200 Planes In Sky Over Korea

TOKYO (UP)—U.S. Superfortresses and jet fighters destroyed or damaged a record 22 Communist planes today in beating off the greatest enemy air challenge yet to American air superiority over Korea.

Some 210 to 220 aircraft tangled in the cloud-flecked skies over northwest Korea in two major battles, one of them the greatest jet combat in history.

The Reds threw 95 Russian-built MIG-15 jets against 114 to 124 U.S. bombers and jet fighters in the two battles. They ended with five MIGs shot down, two probably destroyed and 15 damaged.

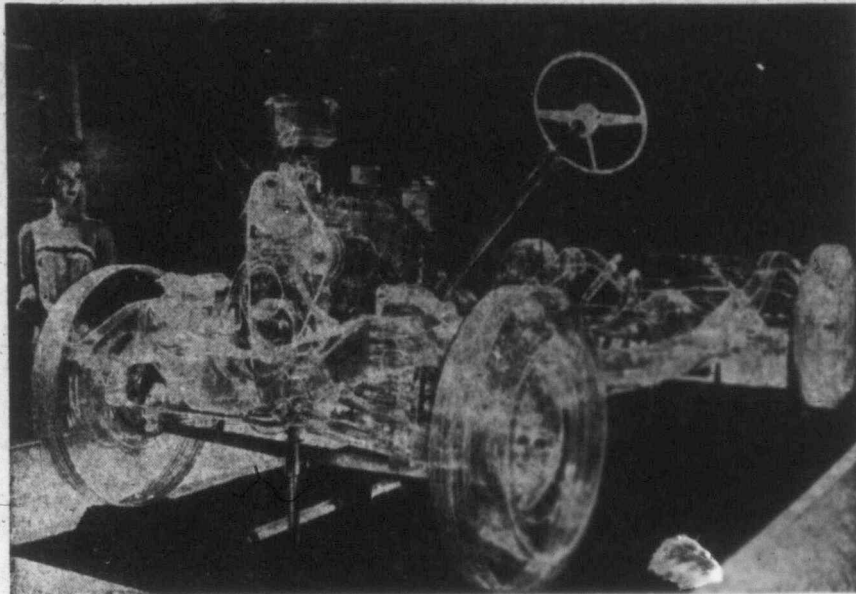

Two battle-damaged B-29s landed at allied-held Korean airfields, but no other damage was reported to the U.S. aircraft.

The Communist challenge tended to confirm recent intelligence reports that the Reds were massing aircraft in Manchuria for an all-out air offensive.

In the day's first battle, 80 enemy jets—the biggest single Communist air armada yet encountered over Korea—ripped into 30 to 40 B-29 Superfortresses and 72 escorting Sabrejets and Thunderbolts over Suifu, just south of the Manchurian border.

The MIGs not only failed to prevent the B-29s from bombing the Yalu River frontier bridge at Suifu, but lost three planes shot down, two probably destroyed and 14 damaged in the battle. The B-29s accounted for one of the enemy planes destroyed and one damaged, and the first fell to guns of the escorting fighters.

Never before in history had so many jet fighters been engaged in a single battle.

Find Body In English Bay

Guests Escape Seattle Hotel Fire In Pyjamas

SEATTLE (UP)—A Portland woman was overcome by smoke in her sixth-floor room during a two-alarm hotel fire here today after more than 100 guests of the hotel were awakened and evacuated, many of them clad only in pyjamas and nightgowns.

Mrs. Ollie Burns, 45, was revived by firemen and treated at King County Hospital where her condition was listed as fair. No one else was injured.

Night clerk Mills Ottomeier of the Wintonia Hotel awakened the guests when the fire broke out shortly after 6 this morning. The blaze burned through a wall from a cafe in the building, filling the rooms and halls of the six-story structure with smoke.

Many persons coughing and choking were led to safety by firemen or groped their way unaided out of the building.

Evacuation of the rooms was ordered by Fire Chief William Fitzgerald, who said smoke was so thick in the corridors, that there was danger of asphyxiation. Fitzgerald estimated damage at about $3,000.

The chief said a burning cigarette in the hotel cafe office was the cause of the fire.

'ERROL FLYNN BAEDEKER'

Once Romantic Babes-In-Woods, GI's Becoming Suave Don Juans

NEW YORK (UP)—Globe-trotting Hungarian reporter Joseph Szebenyi said today that service in Europe is making many a G.I. sleek as Don Juan in his approach to a pretty girl.

"They were babes in the woods when they went to France in World War One," Szebenyi said, "and they were far from suave men-of-the-world in 1945, but now they're as courtly as a French admiral."

Szebenyi said he's had a look at a confidential compilation put together by G.I.'s in Europe. It ranks the world's capitals on a basis of how entraceable its young ladies are.

"I understand they call it the 'Errol Flynn Baedeker,'" he said, "and admitted its finding reflected his own experiences while touring Europe."

The report shows girls are most girlish in London, and progress through Berlin, Paris, Vienna, Dublin, Glasgow and Rome to such romantically frosty centres as Madrid and Stockholm.

Szebenyi's statistics are in a biography just published, "Reporters, Kings and Other Vagabonds."

He said that, contrary to all the stories you get from other global wanderers, American girls

'Furtive Drinking' Needs Correction

Voicing disapproval of the present liquor laws in B.C., the Synod of the Diocese of British Columbia, in its closing session today, passed a resolution calling for improved legislation.

The resolution read as follows:

"Whereas the Lord Bishop has drawn this synod's attention to the problem of furtive drinking now present in increasing proportions in this province: Be it resolved that this synod, whilst appreciating the efforts made by the provincial and municipal authorities to discharge their responsibilities under the present provincial liquor act, and desiring to promote the interests of true temperance, endorses a call for a survey and review of present conditions with respect to the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages with a view to improving the existing legislation."

Supplementing the resolution, Bishop Sexton said he did not think cocktail bars are the answer to the problem of furtive drinking.

EDUCATION NEEDED

In his opinion, he said, young people in particular, as well as some of their elders, "need to be educated in the difference between legitimate use and wrongful abuse."

"I think that the cause of real temperance would be better served by permitting the citizens to enjoy in moderation a little alcoholic refreshment with their meals in hotels and restaurants, as in England and elsewhere in the British Empire," the Bishop said.

Long a champion of a revision in the liquor laws, Bishop Sexton has supported this view at the last two or three synods.

Expelled Union Accuses C.C.L. Of 'Red-Baiting'

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The International Fur and Leather Workers' Union accused the Canadian Congress of Labor today of "Red-baiting" and "waving the red herring."

A statement was issued above the signature of Muni Taub, international representative, condemning the C.C.L. for expelling the Fur and Leather Workers' Union.

The C.C.L., in announcing the expulsion in Ottawa yesterday, said the union was following the Communist Party line.

"No amount of Red baiting on their part will obscure the real issue," the statement said. "The chiefs of the C.C.L. are simply running for cover when they start waving the red herring, to shirk dealing with the real problems and needs of the working people at the present time."

Taub said some C.C.L. policies and activities in the past would reveal that they coincided with the policies and activities of the Communists in organized labor.

William Gilby, district organizer of the union, said leadership of the C.C.L. refused to tolerate criticism.

General Likely To Talk

WASHINGTON (UP)—It appeared certain today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur will get a chance to address an informal joint meeting of the House and Senate—possibly next week.

Republicans demanded that the general be invited to tell Congress his side of the policy quarrel which culminated yesterday with his dismissal by President Truman.

Most Democrats at first opposed the idea, but today there were increasing signs that they were veering toward a "let-him-have-his-say" attitude.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said he expects no serious opposition from Democrats to his resolution inviting MacArthur to address an unofficial joint meeting of the House and Senate. Martin said the general may fly home next week instead of waiting three weeks as he had planned.

'GREATEST GENERAL'

In the Senate, Chairman Pat McCarran (D-Nev.) declared that MacArthur is "our greatest general and should be accorded an opportunity to state his views."

Martin said after a House Republican policy committee meeting that he changed the wording of his resolution from "joint session" to "joint meeting" at the request of Speaker Sam Rayburn. That means it would be an informal and not an official session such as presidents address from time to time.

See where the Stone o' Scone's turned up. Wonder whose neck they'll hang it around?

Don't suppose MacArthur'll accept that offer of a job acting on the stage. He likely wouldn't want to do what the director told him.

Read where Abbott's got a surplus in his budget. He's sure smarter'n me at that.
